Elzinga part of Tory sweep

As predicted Alberta Conservatives 'stampeded' to the polls yesterday to help elect a minority government headed by Prime Minister elect Joe Clark.

Pembina Tory and incumbent Peter Elzinga racked up nearly double the votes he received in 1974 for a total of 30,466 with 334 of 347 polls reported at press time.

St. Albert dentist and Liberal candidate Dr. Len Nobert ran a distant second at 11,556 and NDP Norman Flach was away back at 4,877.

In 1974 the PC's polled 17,762, the Liberals 11,191, Independent Conservatives 6,528 and the NDP 3,907.

Mr. Elzinga expressed satisfaction and relief last night upon his victory. On the campaign in general he said that there had been a lot of anxiety "on all sides" and that the whole country would be relieved it was over.

Regarding Quebec he expressed regret that the Tories had not been successful in that province.

"Naturally we would prefer to have more representation. Quebec has traditionally voted for the party expected to govern. If they had known how well we would do elsewhere, I think they might have voted differently," remarked Mr. Elzinga.

An earlier remark by Mr. Trudeau, that he might consider forming a coalition with the NDP in the event of a marginal Conservative victory, prompted Mr. Elzinga to say that such a move could mean the destruction of the New Democratic Party. He said that, unlike the NDP-Liberal alliance formed between 1972-74, this would be a coalition for a set time period. The former alliance was based on specific pieces of legislation, with Grits and NPDers hammering out a compromise on each piece. Mr. Elzinga feels that under a finite arrangement, one of the two parties would be submerged. The Liberals have too strong a footing to be the ones to go, he stated.

Commenting on the campaign, Liberal candidate Dr. Len Nobert said it had been "a good positive campaign." He also said he wasn't surprised by the result and that he would likely run again. He said that politics had become very scientific. Please Turn to Page A2

Shell may get their store and gas bar at last

After more than eight years of negotiations, Shell Canada may finally learn at tonight's extended council meeting if they can build a gas bar, grocery store and residential housing development in St. Albert.

The development proposal, planned for the southeast corner of Sir Winston Churchill Avenue and Fairview Boulevard, has been before council several times since Shell first bought the property in December of 1970.

Since that time, said Shell's C. L. Barber, "so much has been said by so many." The 5.7 acre site was originally designed for a largely commercial operation, but after legal negotiations, the city and Shell settled on a gas bar and convenience store occupying one acre of the land with the other portion devoted to residential development. Council is now considering Shell's final proposal for the property.

Most of the reluctance from council and local residents has centered on Shell's plans to open a store on the site. A source of garbage, a hang-out for young people, and a generally disruptive influence on the neighbourhood are some of the things that people predict the store could become.

But at the Tuesday night session of city council Mr. Barber argued that the commercial development will be built in a "low profile, ranch and residential" style, suitably blending in with homes. Please Turn to Page A2

Next week Games Volunteer Week

The week of May 27 to June 2 has been designated Games Volunteer Week by the St. Albert Games Board. The week will emphasize the strong need for volunteer help in staging the Alberta Summer Games, which will be held in St. Albert August 2-6.

According to Jerry Manegre, publicity director on the Games Board, about 1,400 people will be needed prior to and during the Games. About 700 of those will be needed for help in the area of sports alone.

Next week a booth will be set up in Grandin Mall, and will be staffed by Summer Games hostesses. Anyone willing to volunteer some time for the Games can talk to the hostesses about certain areas, and application forms can be filled out.

On Saturday, June 2, all the Games Board directors or representatives will be on hand at one central location, which hasn't been decided yet, to give a last "push" during the Volunteer's Week. The gathering will serve as an information period, where residents can find out what's going on, what's needed etc.

The jobs open to the public are many, and the variety is very large. It ranges from phoning to typing to selling programs to ushers, and much more.

If you have some time you'd like to donate to the community in staging the Games, don't hesitate to sign up, a lot of bodies will be needed.

Last chance for Summer School

Friday, May 25 is the last day students can register for the jointly sponsored Summer Improvement program.

District 3 (Catholic) coordinator Jim Tymo told the Gazette last week that late registrations will not be accepted if classes have been filled by the Friday deadline.

The program will run from July 3 through July 20 and include attendance Saturday, July 7. Classes begin at 9 a.m. and end at 11 a.m.

Students in Grades 2-9 from both school districts will be instructed in the basic skills of Language Arts and Mathematics.

Registration forms are available at the schools or School Board offices. They may also be picked up at the Library. Forms are to be returned with the $32 registration fee to St. Albert School District #3, 6 St. Vital Avenue.

Plans for widening (St. Albert) Trail becoming more definite

St. Albert's transportation network including proposed east and west by-pass routes and Edmonton ring road.

The results of last week's public meeting to discuss the widening of St. Albert Trail have narrowed the Steering Committee's alternatives from four to one.

Ken Foster from Gimble Consultants, the firm in charge of studying various methods of widening the roadway, said Thursday that favorable reactions from citizens at the meeting, coupled with the committee's own views, have made the fourth alternative the most likely choice.

That option plans for a six lane roadway with most of the expansion to the western commercial side of the Trail. A six-foot high berm with an eight-foot concrete wall on top of it will be built on the eastern side at the back of residents' lots to reduce traffic noise.

To provide easier access to commercial properties, an additional two lane service road will be built from Gate Avenue, extending north and then east to the Trail at a point opposite Sterling Street. The city will have to buy land behind the Mohawk

St. Albert Service Centre and the Club Mocombo to complete this option.

Mr. Foster said Thursday the fourth alternative would probably be the cheapest. The city will have to buy about six houses along the east side of the Trail between Sir Winston Churchill Avenue and Sturgeon Road.

Meetings will be arranged with every commercial operation along the Trail that would be affected by the widening to deal with any problems that they may have with the fourth alternative, Mr. Foster said.

STARTED WITHIN A YEAR

Mr. Foster said at the meeting that if the planning stages for the road widening progress on schedule, construction could begin next year and be complete in four to five more years. Cost estimates for any one of the four alternatives range from $12 million to $20 million.

Because the Trail has achieved corridor road status with the provincial government, Alberta Transport will be paying for 90 percent of the construction cost, and St. Albert will pay the other 10 percent.

Among the three alternatives that weren't favored, the consultants proposed combinations of four and six lane sections, service roads that ran adjacent to the Trail throughout the city, and noise prevention devices that were either a 15 to 16 foot high earthen berm or a concrete wall of similar height.

The problem with a service road running parallel to the main highway is that the two roads together would take up more land than one six lane roadway. Thus, widening the Trail to six lanes will have less impact on nearby residential and commercial property than would simply building an adjacent service road.

The alternative plan that suggested only a berm proved to be the least popular, largely because the land the berm would occupy now holds more than 50 houses. Mr. Foster said Thursday that construction costs for this option have been estimated at $2 million to $3 million more than the other three. Among the others, he said, costs could vary by less than $1 million, but it's difficult to be accurate with any estimates at this stage because no one can tell yet how much it will cost to buy the necessary property.

The Steering Committee hopes to have a much more detailed plan for construction within four to six weeks. That plan, Mr. Foster said, will go before St. Albert city council for their consideration and then another meeting will be arranged to present it to the public for their reaction. That meeting probably won't occur until late summer or early fall, he said.

RESIDENTS RAISE CONCERNS

Residents at Wednesday's meeting raised several questions that the Steering Committee will be considering for the fourth alternative.

They noted that residents near the Pacific 66 and Texaco service stations along the Trail will still be exposed to excessive noise because no berm or wall can be built there without blocking the entrances to the stations. Five or six homes will be left unprotected, Mr. Foster said, and the committee will be trying to find a solution to their problem.

Citizens also feared that the committee's plans to open the south end of Green Grove Drive to Trail traffic would lead to far too much traffic on the residential street.

Also, a "tunnelling effect" from traffic noise could occur across from the Sir Winston Churchill Bridge because no proper noise prevention facilities can be installed there either.

Residents also asked where pedestrian overpasses might be built, a question which St. Albert's Director of Public Works, Don Corrigan, said is still under consideration.

Mr. Foster said all the citizens' concerns will be studied by the committee as well as one that wasn't brought up at the meeting. He said they also want to review alternate methods of access from the Trail to commercial areas north of the river.

WHY DO ANYTHING?

After residents at the meeting had voted unanimously for the fourth alternative, one man asked why the committee hadn't offered a fifth choice: don't do anything to the Trail at all. Mr. Foster said that idea might work for five to ten years, especially if both the east and west bypasses are built, but eventually, traffic coming into St. Albert itself will become so great "that the Trail will become nothing but a parking lot" during rush hours.

Mr. Corrigan said estimates show that the bypasses will eliminate 75 percent of the traffic that now uses the Trail, but by the late 1980's, the other 25 percent will need at least as much road surface as the Trail now has.

Widening the roadway to six lanes, he said, will prove to be most useful by the early 1990's, a time when St. Albert's population will be over 70,000.

Mr. Corrigan added that provincial and municipal officials will be doing everything they can to ensure that the city's proposed west bypass and the Trail widening are completed at the same time. Major alternate traffic routes, he said, will have to be arranged during the construction periods.

Elzinga

Continued From Page A 1 and that Liberal strategists had predicted a 35 percent share of the popular vote in Pembina. They fell about 10 percent short.

Asked his opinion on the possibility of an NDP-Liberal coalition government (later ruled out by Trudeau), Dr. Nobert said "for the country he should. That would be interesting. I think the Prime Minister could probably work with the NDP." He said that the coalition might be costly for the country and that it might not always be best for the economy. Social policy, he said, might benefit.

Dr. Nobert said he didn't think Trudeau would work to bring down a minority PC government until following the Quebec referendum. (Premier Levesque is expected to announce details for a fall referendum within the next few days). He added that Joe Clark would "find it tough" to form a cabinet with several "green" members.

Dr. Nobert told the Gazette that he entered the campaign because he was "very concerned about national unity." He said it was a "sense of commitment that I could make a contribution." He said that voters in the new riding of Pembina were in the main not interested in national unity with many holding the attitude "let them (Quebec) go."

It was Dr. Nobert's first try for elected office.

The new federal representative expressed his "deep and heartfelt thanks" to all his constituents for their support and that he would do his utmost to represent their views in Ottawa.

Mr. Elzinga plans to return to Ottawa at the first of June, returning to the west later for a Tory caucus in Jasper. The caucus has been set to determine the specific directions the new government will take.

Shell

Mr. Barber noted that Shell's other gas bar and convenience store operations in Edmonton -- eight of them in all -- are fine examples of clean, well-run commercial facilities. He added that Shell's stores "haven't been and won't be hang-outs for young people." Their stores, he said, don't cater to the kind of junk food that young people often eat, and every effort will be made to stop teenagers from congregating around the store.

Asked whether Shell would build only a gas bar if the city stopped them from erecting a store, Mr. Barber said that one without the other just wouldn't be economically feasible. The cost of land and labour, he said, is simply too expensive for Shell to commit themselves to only half of the commercial venture.

Alderman Liesbeth Bakker asked Mr. Barber if Shell was willing to let the city set a curfew for a store's hours, probably from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mr. Barber said such a curfew would be unnecessary because if residents didn't want the store open late, then they simply wouldn't shop there. Thus, he said, "we will close at 10 p.m. by practical necessity."

St. Albert man becomes deputy minister of Alberta Transportation

Kenneth R. Kowalski, a resident of St. Albert, has been appointed as deputy minister of regional transportation services for Alberta Transport.

At 33 years of age, Mr. Kowalski is one of the youngest deputy ministers in the Alberta government.

Mr. Kowalski, who served as chairman of regional transportation services since its inception in 1977, will continue to report to R. G. McFarlane, chief deputy minister for transportation. He will be one among two deputy ministers under Mr. McFarlane.

In announcing Mr. Kowalski's appointment, the ## Pool Facilities:

Y needs private pools here

The YMCA will again run its unique children's Learn to Swim class this summer in St. Albert. The program uses private pools donated for that purpose by their owners. At this time, the 'Y' is making its annual spring appeal to pool owners here who might wish to help local children as they learn to swim.

The program is non-profit and community oriented. During the months of July and August, pool owners donate their pools to the Y.M.C.A. for three hours during the morning or afternoon for a period of two weeks.

Qualified instructors and equipment are provided. The Y.M.C.A. has a blanket liability insurance policy which covers their use of the private pools.

Children come to the pools in their bathing suits just prior to class commencement and leave immediately after the class is finished. Access to the pool owner's home is strictly forbidden.

Last summer, Neighborhood Learn to Swim operated in six pools in St. Albert. Due to the overwhelming response, we are attempting to secure additional pools for this summer's program.

If you are interested in donating your pool, please phone the Y.M.C.A. Projects Unit and ask for Lynn McQuarrie 452-9204.

FATHER LACOMBE MUSEUM OPENS

Local man joining Up With People

Jon Govenlock, 24, of St. Albert has been selected to tour with the Up With People group beginning in January, 1980.

Jon was chosen from among 150 applicants interviewed while the Arizona based group was in Edmonton on tour. Only five Albertans have been with the group to date of whom Jon knew four while with Sing Out Edmonton.

Jon launched his singing career in 1969 when he was a member of Sing Out St. Albert. The next year he joined the Edmonton group of the same name and remained with it until 1974 with a brief break while living in B.C. The Edmonton connection was to eventually lead him to apply to join Up With People.

Up With People toured Edmonton and area in November last year. Jon attended a meeting held by friends to work out billeting for the cast and it resulted in two members bunking at his place. They talked him into taking an interview and in January he got the news of his acceptance. He leaves next January for the University of Arizona in Tucson for five weeks of orientation and then will tour North and South America for the rest of the year.

Casts for Up With People number five and change each year. Four casts begin touring in July and the fifth (Jon's) in January.

The Up With People organization, set up to promote understanding and communication among people around the world, sponsors a portion of the travel costs of its cast members and each individual arranges to finance the balance. In Jon's case he hopes to raise $7,900 of which $4,400 will come out of his pocket through savings and hopefully the remaining $3,500 will come through sponsorships.

St. Albert Sportshop has donated a 10-speed for Jon to pedal to Clyde Corner and back. He hopes to gather enough sponsors to bring in a few hundred dollars. Money donated is tax deductible says Jon. He may be contacted after 6 p.m. at 459-6559.

When touring with Up With People Jon will have about three days per month in which he is not singing or travelling. The North American tours go by bus. Cast members receive music credits from the University of Arizona after remaining with the tour for a year. Participants discover their potential and develop leadership skills. Performances last two hours and feature a sequence of international folk songs and pageantry, a medley of hit tunes and original compositions. Each cast consists of from 80 to 100 young people from different nationalities, backgrounds and cultures.

While touring the casts are accompanied by experienced staff members whose responsibility is to ensure that full advantage is taken of the learning opportunities in each community visited. It includes guest speakers, tours and demonstrations.

The groups play for some audiences (children's hospitals, senior citizens, etc.) at no charge but also earn nearly half their revenues through paid performances.

More information about arranging for an appearance of Up With People, how to apply to participate is available from any member of the staff or cast when in the area or you can write: Up With People, c/o Office of the President, 3103 North Campbell Avenue, Tucson, Arizona 85719.

Restoration of log buildings course to be held here

Grant MacEwan Community College, in co-operation with the City of St. Albert is offering a unique course -- repairing and restoration of log buildings, June 4 to June 15, 1979, (9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday to Friday).

Students will work on the North West Mounted Police Barracks in St. Albert, originally constructed in 1885.

Master builder and construction superintendent of Fort Edmonton, Bernhart Werner will discuss several areas of log building restoration including selection of timber and construction techniques, renewal of joints and replacing rotten logs.

To ensure individual instruction, registration is limited and early application is recommended.

The course, which is approximately 1/3 theory and 2/3 practical, includes use of essential equipment. The fee is $175.00.

For further information and registration forms contact the Continuing Education Division, Grant MacEwan Community College, Mill Woods Campus, 7319 - 29 Avenue, Edmonton, phone 462-5550.

Group to ask for public meeting over budget

A group of ratepayers in the Protestant School District (No. 6) will be appearing before the board of trustees this evening in an attempt to get the board to hold a public meeting. The ratepayers group will ask the board to defend its reasoning behind increasing bus fares along with a significant mill rate increase (53%).

A spokesman for the group told the Gazette that each time answers were sought from the District there were "discrepancies in (those) answers" and that they "failed to get any clear answers." The spokesman also noted that with the $80 per child bus fee, registration fees and other costs throughout the year people "can't afford it anymore."

Other school districts were looked at and similar busing fees were not found to exist. Trustees Garry Hodgins and Ernie Wynychuk met with the group and at that time Mr. Hodgins suggested a sliding fee scale. Other board members were called by the group and "everyone got different answers."

Letters have been hand delivered to all trustees explaining the group's position and a petition was started Thursday in Grandin Mall. A week ago Monday a standing room only crowd packed the Akinsdale Clubhouse to voice its opinion and launch the petition. A petition bearing the signatures of 2,000 Protestant District ratepayers is needed to force the Board to hold a public meeting although the group hopes the Board will not force it to take the legal route.

The group will appear on the agenda at 8 p.m. tonight. District office is located on Sir Winston Churchill Avenue next to Fountain Park Recreation Centre.

Twirler wins again

St. Albert's Elaine Wandler was at the Provincial and Western Canadian Strutting Championships in Calgary on the weekend, and came away a winner again as she brought home the Provincial Strutting Championship in the senior category (15-20 yrs.).

In 1978, Elaine held the same title in the junior category (11-14). She has just turned 15 in May, but already holds the 1979 Senior Provincial Two Baton Championship, along with the more than 80 trophies and over 100 medals she has collected in her twirling career.

Elaine is a very active baton twirler and has won several Northern Alberta Championships in the past years. She also enjoys twirling fire batons, and is a student of the Frances Kyte Academy. Elaine is currently one of the teachers of the St. Albert Majorettes, who are now being prepared for the St. Albert Rodeo Parade.

Into the melting pot?

The idea of Manifest Destiny turns up with reliable consistency in the history of Canadian-American relations. It has been so consistent in fact, that one could almost believe that northern territorial ambitions are an integral part of the American psyche. The most recent incarnation showed up this month on the editorial pages of the Washington Post.

The Post tells Americans that Canada is being split asunder. The paper's scenario for the future of Canada holds that the unravelling of our national fabric is no longer just a theoretical possibility. It is an inevitable consequence, regardless of any decision Quebec might make.

Whether or not you agree with the Post, the sudden, acute U.S. interest in Canada is understandable. We have given the Americans ample cause to contemplate our collapse:

... We decry the foreign ownership of our industry, and then proceed to invest more of our money in lottery tickets than we do in mines:

... We stridently demand a standard of living equal to that of the United States, while our standard of productivity is measurably lower:

... We have made no attempt to safeguard or protect our basic freedoms, an omission that Americans find inexplicable;

... We take little pride in our own culture, preferring to banish our artists to the United States, acknowledging them grudgingly only when they have gained American approval.

None of this does anything to assure

Americans that Canada has a firm grip on its own autonomy.

If the Post's grim prophecies are correct, then a last-ditch effort is called for in Canada, if we are to salvage the ship of state. In order to stay afloat, we will first have to decide if we care enough to suffer the pain and strain of nationhood. Should we agree that our vision of Canada is worth the effort, we must then evaluate the framework of the federation. If it does not meet the needs of Canadians, then it should be amended to reflect our aims and beliefs. Any such analysis would have to include a definition of the country we want—a definition not based on what we cannot achieve, but of what we CAN achieve. Canada has been explained in negative terms too often.

Having done this, a satisfactory constitutional solution will have to be found. In the event that we do not succeed in hammering one out, then the whole exercise in nationhood should be called off. Should we decide to continue as we are now, then we had better learn to accept the structure we have now, problems and all. Some diligent fence mending will have to be carried out between levels of government; between linguistic groups and between economic regions. We will no longer be able to pay mere lip service to the concept of co-operation.

Any failure to reach a consensus on what we want for this country can have only one result: another move to the south, toward the American melting pot. While the United States has remained neutral in our struggles so far, the temptation of our resources and the threat of a Balkanized Canada on their northern border might prove too much for the Americans. While their shortages of energy, water and land, the U.S. might well see the co-option of an ailing Canada as a tidy solution to everyone's problems.

Those who think it can't happen here should read the recent writings of W.L. Morton on the subject. Morton, a cautious scholar and veteran Canada watcher, states flatly that if Canada should fracture, the United States will be obliged to pick up the pieces. The geographical proximity of Canada to Russia alone is enough to make this move strategically crucial. If the Post editorial is in any way representative of American thought, then some U.S. citizens are getting ready for the Canadian mop-up already. More than anything else, this sudden concentration on Canada should emphasize our vulnerability.

The future of this country is uncertain at best. If we don't rally around our faltering flag, we may find ourselves carrying someone else's.

It would be indefensible to lose a country by default.

The road ahead - it won't be easy

Trying to see how the immediate future of our country will be affected by this election, it is difficult to avoid feelings of misgivings. Canadians are not sure where they want to go, and we have a minority government at a difficult time in our history. Difficult because the highest ever national debt and budget deficits have placed us in a precarious position at a time when the economic picture points to a recession. And difficult because our French Canadian brothers in Quebec took a stance opposite to that of voters in the rest of our country.

To solve these problems we have a Conservative minority who can claim only 36 percent of the total vote. Other questions arise: how much of Mr. Clark's vote was more anti-Trudeau than pro-Clark insofar as leadership is concerned? Will Mr. Clark ask for and receive some defections from the Liberal members in Quebec? Does the solid block in Alberta actually reflect a further mandate for Premier Lougheed?

It is unfortunate that the NDP, without any large mandate, can exert an influence far beyond the power given them by voters.

The other major question is the balance of power between regions and the central government in Ottawa. Strong regions can certainly contribute to a strong Canada - but not all regions are strong. Mr. Clark will work for a strong government in Ottawa, and it is to be hoped that he can win increasing support for his government in Quebec.

Joe Clark's task will not be easy and Canadians in all regions should wish him well, and support his efforts. Many Canadians either for or against Mr. Trudeau will also wish him well, recognizing his considerable abilities and his contribution to Canada.

HISTORY BOOK PLANNED

The King Edward Park District of the City of Edmonton is planning a History Book of the area.

We would like contributions re: family stories, business stories, old photos and documents, newspaper clippings, histories of churches, schools and service clubs.

Please state who is in the photos and put your name and address on them so they can be returned.

Please send your contributions no later than December 1, 1979 to either of the addresses listed: Mrs. Helen Hartwig, 8715 - 77 Ave., Edmonton, Alta. or Mrs. M. Duggan, 8704 - 78 Ave., Edmonton, Alta.

We are planning to have the book, "Looking Back" published in time for Christmas, 1980.

Thank you for your help.

AMA ANSWERS LANDSBOROUGH

We noted with interest your news item in the May 9, 1979 edition of the Gazette entitled "Driver School Owner Unhappy With Board."

The Alberta Motor Association considers itself privileged to have been invited to teach driver training to students in the St. Albert Separate School District.

We will certainly do everything possible to provide top quality, expert instruction to students in the St. Albert area, and we thank District Superintendent Elmer Gish for the confidence he has placed in our Driving School's reputation.

We take exception however to the statement made by Mr. Landsborough of the St. Albert Driving School who stated that, "his school has a higher government rating than the AMA."

The Transportation Safety Branch does not list driver training schools in any order of qualification or excellence.

All licensed driver training schools and instructors are considered to have met the standards required for licensing of such schools and instructors.

We are confident that Mr. Landsborough operates a fine driver training school and makes a significant contribution to the community.

The Alberta Motor Association is however, also a member of the community, and has consistently made significant contributions to traffic and pedestrian safety through our driver training operations and School Safety Patrol program.

We are indeed pleased that our reputation for excellence has provided us with the opportunity to make further contributions to motoring safety in the St. Albert Separate School District.

Student researchers investigating opening a group home in city

Two Grant MacEwan students will be knocking on St. Albert doors this summer to determine if this town needs a group home for problem children.

MIKE DEMERS

Donna Rusnak, 22, and Mike Demers, 21, are students in the college's Youth Development Program. Their four-month, $3,000 grant from the provincial government will eventually lead to a proposal to the Child Welfare Branch to open a group home in St. Albert.

During the summer they'll be talking to St. Albert's police, social workers, judges, politicians and citizens to see how they feel about the need for a group home in the city.

Mr. Demers said one problem they may have to overcome is fear. Many people think a group home means having unmanageable, violent teen-agers living next door in a jail setting. "The home isn't specifically for kids who've been in trouble with the law. It will be a residence treatment centre in the community, with a home environment for the kids. But it won't simply be a babysitting service."

The proposal that Mr.

Demers and Ms. Rusnak are investigating calls for a rented or leased house designed to hold six adolescents between 12 and 16 years of age. The average stay for residents would probably be about a year, Mr. Demers said. St. Albert children would be given priority if the home opened but area children would also be eligible to live there.

During the summer Ms. Rusnak and Mr. Demers will be operating out of an office at the Akinsdale Arena. Residents can help them in their search by giving them any opinions or information that they have. Ms. Rusnak said that in addition to calling or writing, St. Albertans can provide input through surveys that will be made and public forums that are being planned.

In addition to opinions on whether or not a group home should be opened in St. Albert, Ms. Rusnak and Mr. Demers said they can use views on how the home environment should be set up, how the children's time could be occupied, and so on. They can be reached by calling 459-6601, extension 70.

Festival '79:

Science circus coming to town!

This week, Festival '79 of the Alberta Summer Games gets underway, kicking off a summer of exciting happenings for St. Albertans and visitors.

Leading off the line-up will be a visit starting May 25 from the Science Circus, of the Ontario Science Centre.

The tour is being funded by the Year of the Child Committee.

Youngsters will find that this science exhibit is indeed a circus. It is geared to be instructive, but also to intrigue both children and adults. Visitors to the circus find their awareness of how science affects their lives and environments is heightened.

Among the fascinating phenomena that might be featured in the circus are a demonstration of lasers, mechanical hands, a simulated moon landing, a driver reaction test, a graphic illustration of electricity and a trace the star exhibit.

The circus will be complemented by a display of wild and wonderful machines dreamed up by local inventors. Anyone with any kind of invention to exhibit, no matter how wacky, should contact June Leggett, at Community Services.

The exhibit opens to the public on Friday, May 25 and runs to June 3. The circus will be located at the Akinsdale Arena, and can be seen from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Local schools are booked into the circus from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Supershow already a sell-out success!

The second event in the Alberta Summer Games Festival '79 is already a sold-out success. When it visits here Tuesday, May 29 and 30. The Greatest Little Travelling Supershow for Young People will play to a packed house, (or tent in this case). Local schools have booked all the seats for the entire Supershow engagement.

The show has been created especially for children and nearly 100 artists will perform. Clowns, musicians, singers, dancers and mimes are all guaranteed to keep the kids wide-eyed.

The St. Albert show is just one step on an extensive Canadian tour, produced by the Touring Office of the Canada Council, to celebrate the International Year of the Child. The show tours across the country from British Columbia to Ontario in May and June and the other provinces in July. They will participate in the Vancouver International Festival for Young People.

When it comes to St. Albert, the Supershow will put up its tents at Paul Kane High School. The resulting festive mood should set the tone for the rest of the Festival '79 celebrations.

Calgary high school plans reunion

A decade ago, Viscount Bennett High School in Calgary graduated almost 500 students! This year, school trustees are considering closing the school for lack of enrollment.

It may be the last chance for 1969 grads to come together again at the school where so many discovered; that dissecting a frog wasn't so sickening and went on to become medical doctors; that geological formations were fascinating and are now helping in the search for oil; that nutrition class was kind of boring, but, as new parents, are glad of the knowledge; that learning is a life long activity and teaching is an exciting profession but the "kids sure have changed since I was in Grade 12!"

Many of the Viscount Bennett 1969 grads are living and working and offsetting declining enrollments in Alberta. Others have moved to Eastern Canada; some are in the Far East. But 100 are "missing." We'd like to find them and have all join in Reunion '69 June 30 at our alma mater, good ol' Viscount Bennett High School in Calgary.

Alumni, or those who might know their whereabouts, are urged to write for full details to: Mrs. Wendy Elekes, 424 Brookpark Drive, S.W., Calgary T2W 2Y1 or phone 281-0194.

SCIENCE FASCINATES

It wasn't very long ago that this fellow looked very like the fetus that fascinates him today. The fetus and other exhibits that explain reproduction and the birth of a baby are a small part of the Ontario Science Centre's Science Circus. A show for people of all ages, its travelling to nine cities across Canada during International Year of the Child.

Group asks $31,000 support for playground

The Protestant School was asked Wednesday to contribute $15,500 toward the cost of constructing a playground and sports field at Sir Alexander Mackenzie School.

The request, by the school's Parent Advisory Committee, was conveyed to the Board by the committee's chairman Gary Golunski. A request for an identical sum will also be made of the city.

Mr. Golunski told trustees that the committee felt the Forest Lawn and Braeside area is badly in need of a good playground and sports fields. Members of the committee asked Bob Sauer of St. Albert Community Services department to assist them and he drew up a plan including costs of materials and labour which the committee submitted to the Board.

The plan involves two phases, the first one to be completed by September 30, 1979 and the second by June 31, 1980.

Phase one includes the construction of the playground (see diagram) and the erection of eight park benches. The second phase includes the planting of 20 trees and the construction of the sports fields and courts. The courts would consist of two volleyball, two tetherball, and one basketball. The fields would be one mini-soccer and one softball. (see diagram).

Material costs total

$28,165 and labour costs $2,792 in the proposed plan. Playground equipment would include one Turtle, one set Flying Ponies (six-seater swing), four seater tot swings, two geodesic climbers, one elephant slide, one set horizontal bars, one four-seater tire swing, one happy face swing and one timber play centre.

TRUSTEES QUESTION GROUPS' HOMEWORK

Trustee Ernie Wynychuk asked if the group had made contact with any of the other groups recently involved in similar projects. The answer was no. Mr. Wynychuk then pointed out that the other groups had managed to raise money on more fronts than the school board and the city. He asked why a copy of the submission to MLA Myrna Fyfe and was told that the group was thinking of going to the Province using the Year of the Child logic. Mr. Golunski didn't say why the costs had been split two ways if that were the case.

Trustee Shirley McCaffery suggested that School District 3 might also be a source of funds but a committee felt Protestant District school children would be the main users of the facilities. They said the City had the responsibility of providing these facilities in the Braeside and Forest Lawn areas because playgrounds do exist in the newer areas. They said the existing facilities at Mackenzie school were in bad shape.

Trustee Garry Hodgins said he couldn't see the comparison with the new areas and wondered why this case was special. A committee member explained the newer areas had more space but Mr. Hodgins said the request before the Board was not only space (the school grounds) but money.

Mr. Golunski told the Board that plans had been underway for about three months with Mr. Sauer doing the technical work. He told the Board that Mr. Sauer had given no indication that would allow them to assume the City will get in on the funding. Trustee Scott Fries suggested the costs appeared a little high and was told Mr. Sauer had prepared them.

Mr. Fries then suggested the group might use the avenue presented by the new City Parks policy and was told the committee was the first group to apply.

Mr. Hodgins asked if the group had looked at the creative playground built at Ronald Harvey school. He was told that the group had incorporated the idea but didn't wish to go to a total concept. They also felt tire playgrounds were unsightly and thus not acceptable. They said that the equipment suggested by Mr. Sauer was apparently very popular. "I guess we put our trust in him."

The proposal is now under review by the Board. A decision will not come forth before the May 23 meeting.

Full speed ahead for 'Hire-A-Student'

The St. Albert Hire-a-student office has begun its second week of operation. A number of students have registered, and all are ready, willing and able to tackle almost any job set before them.

The hire-a-student program is sponsored by both the federal and provincial governments as well as the local Chamber of Commerce. Working as a liaison between employers and students, its obligations are to provide the students with suitable employment and to provide the employees with suitable workers.

Employers and householders are encouraged to place their job orders as soon as possible. The students are very enthusiastic and are willing to work, so please check around your home, store, or office and try to find a job that needs doing. As an added service, there will be two special crews this summer, one is ready to go throughout our city washing windows for both householders and businesses. The other crew is going to be concentrating on gardening and other yard work.

The local office manager, Janet Boddez, is available to take both student registrations and job orders between 2 - 4 on weekdays, but the office will be closed this Thursday and Friday. The office is located in Grandin Mall beside Boots Drugs.

Drop in, or give Janet a call at 458-3808, if you would like to hire a student for window washing, yard work, babysitting, office work or sales work. Everyone have a young summer and Hire-A-Student.

Lois Shaw to address meeting

The next general meeting for the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped will be on Wednesday evening May 23. Summer programs for handicapped children will be the topic for the meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Senior Citizen's Centre. Lois Shaw, leadership co-ordinator and Sharol Thompson, summer specialist for programs for the handicapped will be guest speakers.

Mr. Ron Yeats, chairperson for the Association's Recreation Committee would like to have eight chaperones, four male and four female, 18 years and over to assist and care for mentally retarded children entering the St. Albert Summer Games August 5-6. This would involve around the clock supervision. All meals are supplied. Further information can be obtained by phoning Ron Yeats at 459-6073.

Ground to a halt

The expected Hamburger Test story from Marty O'Kell didn't make it. At last report, Marty couldn't see past his stomach from eating too many hamburgers, and that he was in hiding until his waistline receded. It should appear in the Gazette next week ... hopefully.

It was mistakenly reported by the RCMP in the Gazette last week ("RCMP Blotter"), that Roy Henry Cumiford of Drayton Valley received a thirty day jail sentence for driving with a blood alcohol level over .08. Mr. Cumiford did, in fact, pay a $300 fine, in lieu of the jail sentence.

People, Prizes and Presentations

Dot Blair is 1979-80 president of St. Albert Alpha Psi Chapter of the international sorority Beta Sigma Phi. Serving with her will be Jane Gardner and Janet Tripp, vice presidents; Jane Schwarzkopf, recording secretary; Doreen Jones, corresponding secretary; Barbra Smith, treasurer.

Representative to Edmonton Area City Council of Beta Sigma Phi: Leanne Swain and Mildred Quinlan.

All 14 members of Alpha Psi are visiting residents of the Youville Home. Alpha Psi is the new chapter formed last December and have since been involved in community activities which included the Telethon and Heart Fund campaigns.

The Skeptics Tank

By Vicky Knight

Vaingloria Spite had just about had it. It seemed that every five minutes some self-appointed transportation critic sidled up to her, and made rude remarks about her penchant for hailing taxis. All her life people had over-reacted to her cab habit, saying it was wildly self-indulgent, like a predilection for diamond studded dog duds or mink dress shields. When she moved to the west, she found the carping escalated. Those of hardy pioneer stock had no truck with wimps who had no truck, so to speak.

All this flack caused Vaingloria to break out in spots, so deep was her despair at being the only person in the province over 11 that didn't know how to drive.

"But I'm astigmatic, terribly myopic, dangerously un-coordinated and suffer an assortment of learning disabilities," whimpered Vaingloria. I can't tell my left from my right and I daydream to the point of autism. Mind you, my psychiatrist says I'll be fine as long as I never forget my uppers, downers and sleepers. He says I am very, very nervous," concluded Vaingloria, who took pride in her neurosis.

"Bull feathers!" roared her critics. "Nothing a little road practice wouldn't fix. Why, all North Americans are born knowing how to drive - it goes with the territory, like voting conservative in Alberta. It'd be downright un-Albertan to take cabs, move east or vote Liberal. Why, I bet with a little practice even Joe Clark could drive a car. All you need is experience, honey."

"Yeah, that's what they all say" muttered Vaingloria. However, confronting her fears one final time, she strode home, eyes glazed with purpose. Next, she had to persuade her spouse that he should accompany her on a final practice run. This was not easy.

"I know you're in there. Hiding won't help. If you don't teach me driving tonight I'll tell all your friends you voted NDP in 1968, and that you secretly think hockey is dumb. They'll burn ya at the stake."

Trembling with apprehension, Mr. Spite got in the car, and buckled up for catastrophe as they drove off. Half an hour later, the Spite vehicle nosed slowly back into the driveway. Vaingloria prised her fingers from their locked position on the steering wheel and hurried to the passenger side.

"Not to worry, dear" she crooned consolingly. "Whiplash is merely an irritant, and besides, you've always complained of having a short neck. All that's changed now - on a clear day you'll be able to see forever! You've grown three inches at one stretch - Whoops! Pardon my pun.", simpered Vaingloria, rather pleased at the neatness of her logic.

Mr. Spite made some impolite, unintelligible noises and went inside, vowing to buy his wife a cab company for Christmas. He threw her learner's permit down the garbage can and bolted seven martinis, mixed 14:1.

Vaingloria watched him with satisfaction. Surely her husband's injuries should convince everyone of her ineptitude at the wheel. But it was not to be. The badgering continued, 'til Vaingloria broke. Then, with the cunning of the crazy, she plotted her master move.

It came about one night, when her poor embattled spouse was prostrate on the couch, recuperating from the rigours of the Gloat Road traffic. However, Mr. Spite's tranquillity was not to continue. Suddenly, right there on the TV, was Vaingloria, rudely pre-empting Revoltin' Rash and the National News.

"I am mad as hell and I'm not going to take it anymore," shrieked Vaingloria, who lacked originality. Staring myopically at what she took to be a camera (and was really Revoltin' Rash's bespectacled puss) she launched into her "Number 3 Anti-Auto Utterance for Urban Audiences." Within seconds of her first words, the CBC phones were ringing, as GM executives reeled about their Oshawa bi-levels in horror.

"The car is a murderer of the masses; a corrupter of innocents; an atrophier of muscle tissue. You can thank the automobile for carsick children who throw up in your purse; cities that sprawl for miles, surly traffic cops, homicidal drunk drivers, urban alienation, soaring insurance premiums, incredible gas prices and used car salesmen with diamond pinky rings. These days you can drive-in to do business at anything from a bank to a VD clinic, whether you want to or not. The word itself should be a warning - car, as in 'car-nage'. Just think about the phrase 'carnal knowledge'. Obviously coined at a sleazy drive-in movie," sniffed Vaingloria righteously. "As a result of these passionate sentiments I think there is but one solution. I will withdraw from society until it abandons the automobile. I invite you all to join in this withdrawal at our new retreat house, located in the Beverly Hills Hotel, in Los Angeles. It will be a rigorous spartan existence, but we'll suffer together."

With that, she swept out of the studio, leaving Revoltin', the crew and an entire nation gaping. The retreat idea, however soon was discarded because ... once outside, she was pounced upon by a slick Hollywood agent!

"I represent Silly Mayhem, the world famous evangelist. Silly thinks you're dynamite - he wants you on the team - he thinks your speech was spell-binding and self-blinding - he's gonna make you a star!"

And so it came to be that little Vaingloria Spite donned her gowns of white and coned the clowns each night in her career as Hannah Hosannah, faith healer, Hamway dealer and odds maker. She became obscenely rich and spent the best part of her life in a purring Rolls Royce, chauffeured of course.

One day, as Vaingloria reflected on the rocky road to stardom, she looked in the mirror at her reflection, seeing a pious woman in saintly garb, riding in a chauffeured limo. She looked about furtively and was overheard to mutter "God, it's amazing the contortions you have to go through just to get a reliable cab!"

An Invitation ### to All Service Clubs, Church Groups And Community Organizations

The St. Albert Summer Games Society is extending an invitation to operate concessions during the Summer Games, held from August 2 to August 6, 1979.

Required are: Two Large Concessions - Seven Hills near Mission Tennis Club; Three Medium Concessions - Baseball sites and One Small Concession - Forest Lawn.

Small and medium concessions to serve coffee, milk, pop, chocolate bars, potato chips, fruit, hard ice cream, candy floss, pop corn, etc.

Large concessions to serve same as above but to include hamburgers, hot dogs, corn dogs, assorted sandwiches including submarine, ice cream bars, popsicles, etc.

All profits obtained from the concessions to be retained by the organization. Should a loss incur, this is to be absorbed by the organization.

AGT to charge for overdue accounts

Effective August 1, 1978 AGT will be charging late paying customers 1 1/2 percent interest per month on overdue telephone accounts greater than $50.00.

The objective of the charge is to reduce the unpaid balance forward which amounts to approximately $15 million a month. The balance forward, which has been steadily increasing, has doubled in less than two years.

The interest charge will affect fewer than six percent of AGT's customers. Of 783,000 telephone accounts billed every month, approximately 45,000 accounts are paid late. However, three-quarters of these overdue accounts represent most of the dollars owing.

The Public Utilities Board recently gave AGT approval to charge interest on overdue accounts, a policy practised by all Canadian telephone companies except Saskatchewan Telecommunications. AGT customers will receive notification of the interest charge in May and June.

Telephone accounts are due when rendered and should be paid within a month of the billing date. This allows ample time for payment to be received by AGT before interest charges will be calculated and added to bills over $50.00. The computerized billing system has been designed to handle special situations; for example, exempting customers of the interest charge if there is a mail strike.

The 1 1/2 percent interest charge could conceivably provide an additional $2 million in revenue or not one cent, depending on whether customers choose to pay their bills on time.

Other utilities are charging higher rates, as are many oil companies and department stores, although they have different minimum limits ranging from $10 - $75.

Another change of policy also affects deposits which some customers are required to pay. AGT will pay interest on security deposits at a rate of eight percent annually. The interest will be applied monthly.

Car pool could become risk to driver

The Institute of Law Research and Reform has issued a report recommending the repeal of section 160 of the Highway Traffic Act and section 77 of the Motor Vehicle Administration Act. These sections provide that a guest passenger who is injured may only recover damages from the owner or driver where the accident was caused by the gross negligence or the wilful and wanton misconduct of the owner or driver.

In the 1930's most Canadian provinces either eliminated or restricted the rights of a guest passenger to recover for injury or loss caused by the owner or driver of a car. The legislation was justified on the basis that it would be unjust for a guest passenger to recover damages from the generous motorist who had given him a lift. The legislation is generally considered to have been directed at the hitch-hiker. The Institute's report draws attention to the fact that today many guest passengers are friends, relatives, neighbours and work mates. Also with compulsory automobile insurance, it is the insurer and not the owner or driver who is protected by the guest passenger legislation.

The Institute has concluded that there is no adequate rationale for discriminating against the guest passenger. The report therefore recommended the repeal of the guest passenger sections in order that a guest passenger may recover damages on proof of ordinary negligence, the standard generally imposed by the law.

The Institute's report also recommends that the 1977 amendment to the Insurance Act which would prevent an insurer excluding liability for any loss or damage sustained by an automobile passenger should be proclaimed as soon as possible. The report regards the spreading of risk of injury to the guest passenger among all members of the driving public, through the standard automobile insurance policy, as important.

Daffodils bring in the $$$$

A note from the Canadian Cancer Society informs us that its Daffodil Day campaign was very well accepted by Edmonton area residents.

The door-to-door campaign, which took place April 6 and 7, realized approximately $67,553.04 towards cancer research.

'FAMILY ALLOWANCE'

Budgeting for a family with 10 children can not be an easy task under any conditions. Wilde and Louise Sanche of St. Albert will find that task much easier after Mr. Sanche had his ticket number selected May 9 in the Western Express draw. Mr. and Mrs. Sanche say the money, $100,000, will eventually be shared by all 10 children. Mrs. Sanche, whose husband is self-employed, won $25 in a previous Western draw. Tom Rooke, Western Express Marketing Manager, presented the Sanches with a cheque Friday at Mohawk St. Albert Service.

Council hears plea for more church-zoned land

St. Albert's churches don't have enough land to build on, says Brian Bennett of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Mr. Bennett told city council at their Tuesday night meeting that repeated zoning changes are eliminating large parcels of land that were originally designed for use by church facilities.

KINSMEN INSTALL NEW EXECUTIVE

In approximately the last five years, Mr. Bennett said, only two sites have been zoned SP-Institutional with the intent of serving as church building locations.

One of those sites, in Lacombe Park, is only one-half acre in size. That's far too small for both a building and parking facilities, Mr. Bennett said.

The second site, about one and one-half acres in Woodlands, has only just become available and at least three churches are showing an interest in acquiring it, he said.

Mr. Bennett, co-chairman of the building site committee for his congregation, spoke to the council members as they prepared to consider the Area Structure Plan for Lacombe Park East and Mission Park East. He said that he wished to stop council from rezoning about 20 acres of land in Mission Park from institutional to mother land uses. Elimination of that parcel of land as potential for church buildings, he said, will only compound the shortage of suitable property.

"Council has an opportunity to provide alternate church sites," Mr. Bennett said. Alderman Rod Thronson asked him if he meant that the city has an obligation to buy land to replace property that had been zoned for church use. No, Mr. Bennett said, but council could assist the city's churches by rezoning various parcels of presently city-owned land so that churches can build on them.

The ideal solution would be for council to design some policy for continued replacement of any land that is rezoned from institutional, he said.

In an earlier letter to council, Mr. Bennett wrote that several churches in St. Albert are presently meeting in schools -- buildings which can only be seen as temporary substitutes until proper facilities are obtained.

Shields foiled again

in attempt to set city land sales policy

Alderman Bill Shields failed again Tuesday night in his efforts to establish a policy on city land sales.

Mr. Shields' four motions that were designed to set the policy -- largely dealing with Campbell and Riel Industrial Parks -- were referred to the Business Industrial Advisory Board and city staff for further research.

One of Mr. Shields' motions asked "That the fair market value of industrial lands be established for each parcel of industrial land in Campbell and Riel Industrial Parks as supportive documentation to any recommendation for sale."

Another asked "That the Council of the City of St. Albert establish explicit pricing policy guidelines for City-owned industrial lands which are reviewed on an annual basis or upon request by the City of St. Albert Administration."

In defending his four motions, Mr. Shields noted that the city of Edmonton provides documentation for all land sales, and to be equally above suspicion, St. Albert should do the same.

In voting for referral, Alderman Margaret Smith said she couldn't support Mr. Shields' motions because they largely limited themselves to only the Riel and Campbell developments and excluded other city-owned lands.

Also, she said, much of the documentation necessary to establish current land prices should be kept private and need not be brought out at city council level. She added that the city's staff had dealt with land sales quite successfully up until now, and she saw no reason to rush through any policy guidelines.

Alderman Barry Breadner said "the definition of 'fair market value' is open to quite a bit of interpretation," and that phrase as well as several others in the motions should be re-examined by city staff.

deputy minister

Alberta Transportation formally launched regionalization a year ago, the stated aim was to improve service to Albertans by moving more decision making out of Edmonton into the regions. Ken Kowalski's appointment as deputy minister, regional transportation services reaffirms our commitment to that aim."

Mr. McFarlane said, "Increasingly complex transportation programs and expansion of road, bridge and air systems necessitated the decentralization of transportation facilities. In his new post, Ken Kowalski will be responsible for the further development of a comprehensive regionalized system of transportation services in Alberta."

During his period as chairman of regional transportation services, Mr. Kowalski was responsible for the operational response of Alberta Transportation and the delivery of transportation programs to all of Alberta's municipalities except its cities. His responsibilities will continue in these areas.

From 1974 to 1977 he served as executive assistant to the deputy premier, Dr. Hugh M. Horner, and was involved in a variety of senior management projects including the Alberta airport development committee, airship study group, community facility signing program, apprenticeship training program, and acted as secretary to the rural development cabinet committee for three years.

Mr. Kowalski was born in Bonnyville in 1945. He and his wife Jeannine have two children. He holds a master of arts degree from the University of Alberta.

New NFG guide for Canadian studies

The National Film Board has published a film guide designed specifically for educators teaching Canadian studies programs.

The new 210-page catalogue, "Seeing Ourselves," draws together 135 films, both NFB and CBC productions that experts in the field see as being of potential value in teaching.

In the first part of the catalogue, the selected films have been organized into 11 thematic groups: Art and Artists, French-English Relations, History, Literature, Native Studies, The Political Process, Quebec Studies, Regional Studies, The Thirties, Urban Studies, and Women's Studies. Each theme is further subdivided into a number of topics, and the guide indicates how the films relate to one another.

In the second part, all the films are listed in alphabetical order, with detailed synopses. Each synopsis gives some idea of the film's scope, the basic approach taken by the filmmaker, and the strengths or weaknesses of the production. Also indicated are appropriate education levels, possible thematic link-ups, as well as basic productions and distribution information -- who made the film, the screening time and how to obtain it.

"Seeing Ourselves" is available for $3.95 (plus mailing charges) from the Canadian Film Institute's Publications Division, 75 Albert Street, Ottawa.

School bus safety week

We see where Canadians will soon have another week set aside with special designation according to "Safety Canada," a publication of the Canada Safety Council.

According to the report plans are underway to have the week commence in September although the date is not yet finalized. It also says the Canada Safety Council gave "long and hard deliberation" to the question of whether there should be another "special" week among the many which already exist. In the end it was determined that Canada's school children were indeed a worthy cause.

School Bus Safety Week will be directed at encouraging school authorities to concentrate their safety activities in this area. It was felt that an early emphasis, coming shortly after school opens would have the greatest effect especially with the significant number of new young riders.

Dance auditions

The Grant MacEwan Community College dance program placement auditions for the 1979-80 academic year will be held Sunday, June 3, at 2:30 p.m. in the gym of the Jasper Place Campus, 10045 156 Street. For further information, please call Charlene Tarver, program head at 484-7791. Make 1979 your year to Dance with the Professionals.

Chair in accounting established at U of A

The Francis G. Winspear Chair of Professional Accounting is now a reality at the University of Alberta.

Details concerning the establishment of the chair have been finalized by Dr. Winspear, for whom the chair is named, university officials, and the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta.

The chair, which involves teaching and research activities, is located in the department of accounting within the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce.

The Winspear Chair is the first such chair to be established at the university. It constitutes a senior academic position and will be filled with due consideration of pertinent academic and professional qualifications.

The Winspear Professor of Accounting's range of duties will include the development of course materials relating to the chartered accountant profession for inclusion in one or more of the courses offered by the department of accounting and required for admission to the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta.

Dr. Winspear, 75, is a former University of Alberta professor in business administration and commerce. He taught in the accounting area for many years and was dean of the faculty in 1952-53. He is a founding partner of the national accounting firm Winspear, Higgins, Stevenson and Doane and has been a director of a number of Canadian companies.

Dr. Winspear resides on Vancouver Island.

ON THE HOME FRONT

Women join forces in pursuit of sobriety

Women for Sobriety is an organization to help women with drinking problems overcome their addiction with the use of the Women for Sobriety program of emotional and spiritual growth. This WFS program provides a new way of thinking and an exciting way of life. The program helps women to develop a sense of self worth and other positive attitudes toward themselves and life.

Women gather together in self-help groups to discuss the program. These groups provide each woman with help, love and care; they are nonjudgmental; they reinforce faltering self-esteem; they provide relief from guilt and depression; they provide the means for friendship and identification with other women with a similar problem; they provide a forum within which women can talk and relate.

Since the founding of Alcoholics Anonymous more than 40 years ago, Women for Sobriety is the first organization to offer women additional or alternative help for lifetime care.

Only two years old, there are already hundreds of groups in the United States. A group has been formed in Edmonton and will be meeting at 7 on Wednesday evenings at 10409 - 100 Avenue.

For further information contact Helen Raboud 459-6671.

No. 533 RC(Air)C Squadron Air Cadets in Review

By F/Sgt. C. Leibel
Thursday, May 17, a member of the Search and Rescue team, Warrant Officer Bill Krier presented two films to #533 cadets. One dealt with the proper dress required in different climates and methods to help prevent such things as frostbite, and included ways to treat minor frostbite injuries. Both of the films displayed some of the operations the Search and Rescue teams are involved in. After the films, W.O. Bill Krier answered questions cadets had about his presentation. He also told us a bit about what he does as a member of the Search and Rescue team.

On behalf of #533 Squadron, THANK YOU W.O. Bill Krier for a most informative and interesting presentation.

A weekend campout at Camp Wright is planned for May 25 - 27. This weekend is a fun weekend and will be filled with various activities for cadets. Things such as films, a dance with #533's very own DJ; Cpl. Brent Baumen, a three hour hike, organized sports, and in particular, the mile jog on Sunday morning is one event all cadets are looking forward to. At least cadets seemed enthusiastic when it was announced at parade Thursday!

A challenge to #533's cadets will be to see whether once again they can survive Major Maybee's gourmet cooking! Good luck cadets!

Come rain or shine the camp will still be held for all of #533 squadron's cadets.

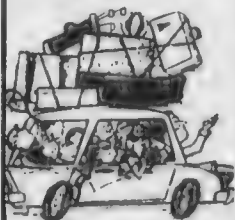

So come on sun shine! Please?

Monday, May 28 regular Band and Colour Party practices will be held. Members please attend.

Cadets are reminded that we are now in summer dress so wear your T-shirts not turtle-necks!

Registration to join #533 Squadron will be held in September. The exact date will be advertised in future articles.

Locals girls top festival

Kerri-Lynne Kachulak and Jody Doherty placed first and second respectively in their class at the Edmonton Kiwanis Music Festival held recently at the Jubilee Auditorium.

Kerri-Lynne scored an 88 and Jody an 87 in the eight and under electric organ class. Kerri-Lynne was runner-up for a $50 scholarship for her efforts. Ten other contestants competed in the class. Both girls have been playing for less than one year. Kerri-Lynne played 'Somewhere My Love' and Jody played Cielito Lindo.

Adjudicator Jo Hansen of Calgary was impressed by the talent and potential displayed by the girls. He commented that both were advanced for their age and were playing at a higher standard than other festivals he had adjudicated for.

The girls will be performing on Kiddies on Kamera to be aired in June or July. Both take their lessons from Miss Bonnie Lutze of Yamaha Pianos and Organs in Edmonton.

The Tabloids: Celebrating the Big Lie

By Victoria Knight

I give you the following scenarios:

Truck Driver: But officer why did you pick on me? That guy there is speeding too!

Officer: Sorry, bud. He's driving an old souped up International held together by bobby pins and hope. The law doesn't apply to the less classy rigs, just the posh ones, like your Kenworth. Gotcha!

Customer: Waiter, waiter, there's an alien creature in my soup!

Waiter: So sue me!

Customer: Why you pizza-faced, dog-breathed creep. I'll have the health inspector on you! You're in violation of a million laws in this joint!

Waiter: So what? The law doesn't apply to sleazy places like Dimwit's Diner. They can only charge classy places, like the Mac. Gotcha again!

Sounds incredible, right? Wrong. It happens every day in the newspaper business. It is par for the course for legitimate newspapers to be sued up, down and sideways for the slightest hint of libel while their colleagues on the tabloids go unscathed. Although these rags print fictional news, they are seldom sued for their untruths. Their falsehoods usually involve unprovable theories or celebrities who would rather bite the bullet than make a fuss in court. Because libel is a civil action, the crown does not prosecute.

Any perusal of the tabs will demonstrate the sketchiness of the facts they present. Here are a few examples from the last two weeks: From the infamous National Enquirer: Marilyn Monroe was murdered (hardly a new line of thought, but as yet unproven); Ancient writings show UFO's visited Earth in 4,000 B.C. (which should be titled the Enquirer makes a late discovery of Eric Van Daniken); an exclusive sob story, featuring a plea from Frank Sinatra's crippled cousin to 01' Blue Eyes, asking him to keep in touch.

From the Star: a story on how 28 million Americans had a mystery disease without knowing it (this one's a hypochondriac's dream); a story headed "Torture Chambers Are the Latest Fad" and "Your Cat's Horoscope," (I showed my cat this one -- he said it was nonsense).

The Globe stories include "Can this Woman Reach the Stars Beyond the Grave?"; "How the Birdman of Alcatraz Changed My Life Forever, and a very peculiar ad for a voodoo queen.

Anyone of these stories might cause complaint at the very least, and frequent prosecution if printed in a paper like the Gazette or the Journal. However, the tabs can slander at will.

It is strange to me that these magazines are for sale in most reputable stores. Safeway would blanch at the thought of selling Hustler magazine at the counter. Such a publication would be considered a corrupt influence on kids. Why then should these stores carry this kind of paper, which in my opinion, is much worse.

Are we going to tolerate the lie while we damn the licentious? In the long run, the Big Lie is the more dangerous. For our children to regard such mistruth as sanctified and acceptable would be a disastrous turn of events. Make them put the Enquirer's falsehoods be-

Alberta Ballet to be in National Festival

The Alberta Ballet Company is pleased to announce its participation in the National Arts Centre Festival this summer in Ottawa on July 21, 24, 26 and 28, 1979.

The Company will be appearing in the N.A.C.'s production of Masonnet's Cinderella, which is being choreographed by Brian MacDonald.

The Company will arrive in Ottawa on July 9, fresh from their appearance at the International Arts Festival in Cyprus, to begin rehearsals for the production to be presented in the last week of July. This will be their first appearance on the stage of the National Arts Centre, and they look forward to performing for Ottawa audiences.

Citadel to stage benefit concert

In response to government cutbacks in funding for the arts, the production department of the Citadel Theatre, has decided to take matters into its own hands. Production Manager Rick Schick has recently announced their intention to hold a benefit concert on June 7 - 8. Proceeds raised will be used to buy much needed equipment and tools for the theatre's production department. General Manager Wayne Fipke donated the use of the Shctor Theatre which, with a total seating capacity of approximately 1400 over the two nights could make the production boys a few thousand dollars.

The concert will feature well-known country rock band Laura Vinson and Red Wyng and local artist Connie Kaldor. Theatre staff saw them both perform recently at Alberta Showcase and the verdict was unanimous - great local talent!

Laura Vinson's first album entitled 'First Flight' won her a Juno nomination.

Tickets are $5 in advance available at the Citadel Theatre Box Office, Mike's Ticket Office and the Hub Mall, or $6 at the door. Concert time is 8 p.m. Tell your friends about it!

For more information phone the Citadel Theatre Box Office at 425-1820.

Part of the success is attributed to the enthusiasm and initiative of the teachers involved.

NEWSLETTERS ... are sent to parents keeping them informed about the food samples, nutritional information, nutritious recipes, etc. At Sturgeon Heights, Betty Tichowsky and Carol Ostryk prepared the parent newsletter while Louise Slobogean and Anita de Ocampo were responsible for the parent newsletter at the Legal School.

FOOD COORDINATORS ... The food samples are prepared by the Food Coordinators. Margaret Victor and Doreen Millar acted as food coordinators for Sturgeon Heights while Debbie Hunting and Margaret Hunting were food coordinators for the Legal School.

NUTRITION FINALE ... LEGAL SCHOOL

As a special ending to the Legal Nutrition-At-School program, the teachers, inspired by Donna Hodgins, planned a finale to Sports Week. It featured an afternoon devoted to games (exercises) and nutrition education through watching films and playing nutrition bingo. Bingo prizes were foods from the Four Food Groups - fruit juice, raisins, peanuts, granola bars, cheese, biscuits, beef jerky, milk puddings, etc.

The students from grades 4 to 6 also participated in a Poster contest on the Nutrition Theme. The posters are now on display in the Legal School corridors. Why not stop in at the Legal School and see the attractive posters!

Sonic Pulse

with Simon

This column has been written in response to last week's 'Accostyx' column by Shauna Oor, the Gazette rock reviewer:

I read your last article in the Gazette, and believe me, I would have laughed my head off, but it wasn't funny. I am putting together the following lines to get certain facts across. From what I can deduce from the conversation of the two imaginary kids, neither of them seems to know what they are talking about. While Disco music seems to send a lot of our younger people into unwarranted anger, it might be an idea to look into the natural law of cause and effect.

Disco music came about for one particular reason. People just want to dance and have a good time. The audience is fed up with kids who are masquerading as musicians telling them what is or what is not hard rock. The original rock music as pioneered by Little Richard, Elvis Presley, Chuck Berry were all derived from a fusion of White Country Music and Black Rhythm and Blues, (R&B). R&B itself came from the Blues, and r&b was the original disco music. The disco idea itself came from France, and it is nothing more than a chic club where people could listen to their favorite musicians via records.

If I can remember, the stars of r&b music (some call it 'soul') were Otis Redding, Wilson Pickett, James Brown, etc. In the early 60s when the Stones and Beatles were formed, both groups worked within the format of rock and r&b music, to launch their careers. If you care to dispute this argument, I have stacks of early English rock albums, books, and magazines that are available for your perusal. The mid-60's brought the Flower Power era, with groups like Jefferson Airplane (Starship), Grateful Dead, Electric Prunes, etc. from the American West Coast, while in England were groups like Cream, Jimi Hendrix Experience, who spawned such hard rock heroes like Jimi Hendrix and Eric Clapton. Before then Clapton used to play in another Blues-based rock band called Yardbirds/Bluesbreakers. The English school of Hard Rock was dominated by groups like Black Sabbath, Deep Purple, Emerson Lake and Palmer, Uriah Heep, The Who, etc. Listening to the style of most of the Hard Rock groups, they are into Blues as pioneered in England by Alexis Korner, Peter Thorup, etc. Jimmy Page, now fronting Led Zep, a hard rock quartet, got his first gigging experience with the Yardbirds. Equipment-wise, the sound of Hard Rock is dominated by Fender Stratocaster/Gibson Les Paul guitars and stacks of Marshall amplifiers.

To you Disco might be the end of good music, but disco goers are not overly concerned about the music. It is the good time, the dancing, the party atmosphere they go for. For once, the dancers are the superstars of the show. Before then it used to be the musicians. Secondly, disco is not mindless. As a matter of fact, top session musicians are used in the recording of it. Disco does not trample on other forms of music. I have an inside knowledge of how the music industry works. Rock music sells big; Country Music sells big top 40 MOR music sells big; Disco sells Big. There is variety and diversity in the music industry. At last the consumers have a choice. It does take a lot of talent to sing disco, more talent than you can ever imagine. The record companies are signing on more than just disco music artists (have you forgotten about Punk Rock or New Wave music). Canada had just begun to rock and roll; there was BTO, Guess Who, Mandala and many other groups that didn't make it in the rat race of the mid 60s. No form of music is the filet mignon of the music. You just try and read Billboard magazine (American) or Melody Maker (English). Canada has no hard rockers, as such not when you start to compare them to the likes of Yes, or Led Zep, Deep Purple, Genesis, The Who, and vice versa. It takes more than light shows and smoke bombs to be a real hard rocker, (even Kiss uses the above). I am not a disco duck or freak, I do not blow my eardrums with the so called hard, but I enjoy any kind of music be it classical, jazz, rock or country so far it is well played, and I suggest you do the same, before you put any kind of music down.

Moreau to head dance workshop

Yves Moreau, internationally acclaimed French Canadian Balkan dance teacher will be the featured guest instructor at a spring workshop in Edmonton.

The event will be held on the weekend of June 2 and 3 in the physical education centre at the University of Alberta. It is organized by the University of Alberta's International Folk Dance Club.

Mr. Moreau is well known in Canada as a teacher of French Canadian folk dances. He is also internationally known for his work with the dances of the Balkan countries.

The workshop will be devoted equally to dances from both regions.

The event will be comprised of nine instructional hours in three sessions. These will start at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 2 and at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 3.

Access to resource materials such as records and printed dance instructions will be made available.

For registration forms and information, write: Folk Dance Workshop, 10712 - 60 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta Canada T6H 1H4. Phone Area code 403 - 436-2047 or 435-5834.

of an advanced or professional level and will focus on all aspects of the instrument.

Anyone interested in the Guitar Master Class is asked to contact The Registrar, Banff Centre, Box 1020, Banff, Alberta, T0L 0C0.

Farlie's Happy Wanderers

Photography by fniser's

Mike Beshara of St. Albert joined 100 other people on a Farlie tour to New York in February to see the NHL-Russia hockey series. Mike reports that despite the outcome of the games, he felt it was "really worth going to see those guys play—it was first-class hockey." He enjoyed New York although he found the four-day trip too short. However, he did have a look at the Empire State Building, shopped at Macy's, took a brisk walk down Broadway in weather that was as cold as Edmonton's, and went to Charlie O's bar in Madison Square Garden.

Watch for news of other exciting Farlie tours in future!

Horsman announces funding for student jobs

Provincial government funding, totalling $4.75 million, to create employment for Alberta students during the coming summer has been announced by Jim Horsman, minister of Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower.

"Approval of a special warrant for $3.5 million permits us to launch the 1979 Summer Temporary Employment Program (S.T.E.P.) on schedule," Mr. Horsman explained. "The balance for the program will be requested from the Legislature when the spring session commences later this month."

The funds will provide summer employment for approximately 3,400 Alberta students. The number of S.T.E.P. components for post-secondary students rises to five this year with the addition of a new program area emphasizing career development for law enforcement students.

Under the new program, students will perform normal duties with municipal police departments within the province. It is designed to provide students with a more practical perception of police work and better preparation for entrance into their chosen career. Projects will also give police departments an opportunity to access both potential recruits and existing law enforcement courses.

The post-secondary components, which run from May through August, emphasize work experience activities. The four remaining areas are:

- provincial government departments, with major emphasis on individual career development while providing support for departmental activities;

- recreation, cost-shared projects with municipal recreation boards and provincial sport associations;

- veterinary work, cost-shared between Alberta Agriculture and registered veterinarians, for veterinary students;

- tourism, cost-shared projects between Alberta Tourism and Small Business and zone offices of the Travel Industry Association of Alberta, for work in tourist information centres.

The S.T.E.P. components for high school students are scheduled for July and August. They include:

- summer farm employment for youth on Alberta farms, under cost-shared arrangements between Alberta Agriculture and eligible farmers, for employment of at least two weeks;
- municipal government projects, with emphasis on maintenance and recreation-type jobs, with cities, towns, villages, counties and municipal districts;

- junior forest ranger program under Alberta Energy and Natural Resources, for eight weeks of career development camp experiences in provincial forests;

- agricultural society projects, operated jointly with Alberta Agriculture, to improve local facilities and provide assistance with summer fairs and shows.

To be eligible for S.T.E.P. Please Turn to Page A 20

Juvenile reading at the St. Albert Library

By Karin Hynes-Schilling
Proudfoot's Way by Eleanor Frances Lattimore. Phoebe is on her own, motherless and left in the care of the housekeeper. Her father and brother are setting up a new home 30 miles away, so she feels lonely and begins to feel her other family members have abandoned her. Phoebe decides to rejoin her brother and father and finds she has additional help from Proudfoot, her brother's cat (or is it?). Perhaps he can show her the way to the new house. Phoebe decides to follow Proudfoot and together they follow adventure into adventure until her father's surprising discovery of Phoebe's whereabouts aided by a passerby.

Ghost Dance Caper by Monica Hughes. Tom visits his grandfather regularly on the weekends, regardless of the friction caused at home by his white mother and his Indian father, who has turned his back on the Indian ways.

With constant pressure from parents and friends, Tom becomes more confident in his grandfather to decide what is in store for the future. "To find his spirit," his grandfather tells Tom he must first get the "ghost bundle" from the museum and take part in the age-old custom of Indian 'sweat'.

Unforeseen events follow Tom and he becomes more courageous and resilient to survive.

The Undertaker's Gone Bananas by Paul Zindel. Bobby Perkins, known for his pranks, had a difficult time convincing people he witnessed the murder of his new neighbor, Mrs. Hulkan, by her husband.

Lauri, his friend, believes him and together they set out to spy on Mr. Hulkan -- maniacal murderer? -- only to find themselves in a web of events that leads them to fear for their own lives.

Excitement, laughter and suspense builds up in a story readers can't put down.

Bones on Black Spruce Mountain by David Buddill. Daniel and Seth loved camping trips and spent many hours of hiking, and building their knowledge of outdoor survival. They never ventured onto the Black Spruce Mountain that held a legend -- the legend of the mistreated foster child who ran away and hid from those who tried to stop him. Neither knew of the secrets of the mountain and the significance of the foster boy's fate has to Daniel. Only when the truth is discovered about the foster boy's fate, do the boys realize the painful past that must be confronted.

Two camps for Scouts offered

Minimum Impact Camping is the focus of two summer camp programs being offered this summer by Scouts Canada-Edmonton region.

Applications are now being accepted for these camps, which are divided into two sections - for boys aged 8 to 10 years, and boys aged 11 to 15 years.

Boys who are not members of Scouting can also apply; these camps are open to any boy interested.

Five camps for boys 8 - 10 years will be held each lasting five days, from July 8 to August 10. Emphasis will be placed on water activities but will also include an overnight trip, environmental awareness, and games.

Three camps for boys 11 - 15 years will be held in July and August and will last from six to 10 days.

The majority of the time will be spent on the lakes learning canoeing, portaging and 21st Century style camping.

The 10-day camp will be a river canoe trip on the Athabasca River starting from Hinton and ending at Smith, (approx. 280 miles).

All camps except the 10 days camp will be held at Skeleton Lake Scout Camp, near Boyle, about 100 miles north of Edmonton.

For more information and pamphlets, contact the Scout office at 14205 - 109 Avenue or phone 454-8561.

student jobs

Continued From Page A 19 jobs, students must be at least 15 years of age, Alberta residents and legally entitled to work in Canada.

Mr. Horsman noted that project employees are generally recruited through local Hire-A-Student centres. He urged students interested in S.T.E.P. jobs to register at their nearest Hire-A-Student office.

S.T.E.P. has employed over 30,000 students since its introduction in 1972. Last summer the eight program components provided jobs for 1,000 university and college students and 2,212 high school students.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Dear Friend:

How are you? I just had to send you this letter to tell you how much I love you and care about you. I saw you yesterday as you were walking with your friends. I waited all day, hoping you would talk to me also. As evening drew near, I gave you sunset to close your day and a cool breeze to rest you, and I waited. You never came. Oh yes, it hurt me, but I am your friend.

I saw you fall asleep last night, and I longed to touch your brow, so I spilled moonlight upon your pillow and face. Again I waited, wanting to rush down so we could talk. I have so many gifts for you ....

You awakened late and rushed off for the day - My tears were in the rain. Today you looked so sad, so alone. It makes my heart ache because I understand. My friends let me down too, but I love you. I try to tell you in the quiet green grass, I whisper it in the leaves and trees, breathe it in the colors of the flowers. I shout it to you in the mountain streams, and give the birds love songs to sing. I clothe you with warm sunshine and perfume in the air. My love for you is deeper than oceans and bigger than the biggest want or need you have ....

We will spend Eternity together in Heaven. I know how hard it is on this earth. I really know because I was there, and I want to help you. My Father wants to help you too. He's that way, you know. Just call Me, ask Me, talk to Me. It's your decision

I have chosen you, and because of this, I will wait ... because I love you.

Lutherans plan family fair May 27

By Don Hornsberger
St. Albert Lutherans and their friends are invited to attend the Lutheran Family Fair on Sunday, May 27 at the Red Barn, north of Bon Accord.

The family fair will commence at lunch time following the regular church worship in your own church. It is suggested families take a picnic lunch to the Red Barn. A kiddies corner and booths will be set up and the youth may take part in a planned disco. Choral groups are also planned and there's lots of opportunity for fun fellowship and learning.

The entrance fee is $3 per person or a maximum of $12 per family with children under 12 being admitted free. A supper barbecue is planned and you may barbecue your own or eat at the Red Barn. An evening message and devotion period will follow.

Tickets and information can be obtained by contacting Margaret Olson at 458-8018 or the St. Albert Lutheran Church at 458-6012.

We look forward to seeing you on Sunday.

Your one-stop phone shop!

phoneCentre makes life easier with speed, convenience and savings.***

When you live in a phoneCentre area, you can shop for phones, take them home, plug them in. phoneCentre is designed to fit today's lifestyles. Forget fitting a service call into your busy schedule. You visit phoneCentre at your convenience. And look what else you can do:

Arrange for service — initial installation through phoneCentre costs less than regular field installation. Choose extra phones or exchange phones for different styles and colors — at the time of initial service there's no additional charge. If phones are added or exchanged later, there will be a small service fee. Pay your account. Exchange a phone that's not working for a new one. Even return all your phones for a credit when you're moving. Phones remain the property of AGT but the speed and convenience of phoneCentre are all yours.

*Speed and savings apply only to single-line residential customers in phoneCentre-serviced areas. Not applicable to business customers.

One nice thing about moving is

phoneCentre service

Moving out of town, or terminating your service?

Remember to return all your phones before you move out of town or when you terminate your phone service. You'll receive a credit on your bill for each phone you bring back to phoneCentre.

Man killed in camper fire

A 65 year old Edmonton man died when his camper truck unit rolled into the ditch and caught fire near Namao yesterday.

The man, identified as John Heffel, was travelling south on Highway 28, about three and a half miles south of secondary highway 642 when the vehicle rolled over about 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Morinville RCMP are still investigating the matter.

Spruce View's damage deposit draws mixed reaction

By Jeff Adams

A decision to charge a $125 damage deposit at Gibbons Spruce View Manor has angered some local citizens but most residents don't seem to mind.

One angry taxpayer, Agnes Michaud, has collected "about 75 names" on a petition to the Sturgeon Foundation, the organization responsible for all seniors homes in the MD.

Mrs. Michaud said in an interview that "we feel that it's disgraceful that people who helped to pay for building the place (Spruce View) have to be charged a deposit to live there."

However, the president of a residents' complaints group at Spruce View reports that most residents strongly support paying a damage deposit. Jack Bumfit, president of the Beefs and Bouquets Club, says that after inspecting rooms that were damaged by residents over the past year, he feels that Spruce View's directors are "fully within their rights and privileges" by asking for a deposit.

Another resident, Aurore Lamoureux, said she agreed with paying a damage deposit in advance because "once the damage is done it's hard to collect."

It's been suggested that some people might not be able to afford the deposit, she said, "but I can't see it. Our cost of living here is very low." Residents pay about $190 a month for their room and meals. Mrs. Lamoureux added that "we're not giving the money away; we're loaning it."

Spruce View's chairman of the board of management, Reg Austin, explained that residents will collect interest on their deposit. Mr. Austin said that in the year that the home has been open, carpets have been burned by cigarettes, a dresser has been scarred by someone using it for a bottle opener, and a thermostat has been broken. The extent of the damage, he said, convinced the board that a deposit was necessary.

The Sturgeon Foundation agrees. They've rejected Mrs. Michaud's petition and ruled late last month that every senior citizens home in the MD has a right to charge a damage deposit as long as the amount is determined and approved by the Foundation's board of directors in advance.

Roland Prefontaine, the Foundation's chairman of the board, noted that charging a damage deposit is a "common practice in any place you rent," and seniors homes shouldn't be any different. The $125 that Spruce View is asking, he said, is certainly not high, and if any residents have difficulty in raising it then some kind of arrangements can be made. "No one will be deprived of a place to stay if they can't afford the $125," he said.

Mr. Prefontaine said there are "quite a few (old age) homes that are charging damage deposits" in Alberta now and there will probably be more.

Seniors homes like Spruce View are funded by local taxpayers and receive no support from the provincial or federal governments. Thus, said Mr. Austin, local citizens are paying for any repairs in the home, "and why these ratepayers should have to pay for damage often done through carelessness isn't understandable to me."

Mr. Austin said that 42 out of the 44 residents at Spruce

View have already paid their deposit. Commenting on the two hold-outs, he said, "I guess it's just an unfortunate situation. So far the board hasn't decided on any type of action."

Mr. Prefontaine said other seniors homes in the MD must decide among themselves if a damage deposit will be charged. The board for the home in Legal, he said, has decided that it's not going to at the present time. The chairman of the board of Please Turn to Page B 2

Gazette apologizes to MacDonald

Last week's report on the Sturgeon District school board and Bill MacDonald, then acting principal of Sturgeon Composite High School, was inaccurate in its description of Mr. MacDonald's future with the board.

The article stated that at its May 9 meeting, the board gave Mr. MacDonald the choice of either teaching primary school at Sturgeon Heights or resigning.

In fact, Mr. MacDonald has been given the choice of spending the remainder of the school year (until June 29) either teaching at Sturgeon Heights or on a leave of absence will full pay. After June 29, there will be further discussions as to possible alternative teaching assignments for Mr. MacDonald in the district.

The Gazette story was also inaccurate in describing Sturgeon Heights as a primary school. It is a junior high school.

The paper regrets any inconvenience or embarrassment that Mr. MacDonald may have suffered, and offers a full apology.

Important food seminar in June

A seminar to point out the trends and identify powers and forces involved in Canada's food industry will be held in Edmonton June 11 and 12.

Gordon Leith, Corporate Vice President of Farmland Industries, a major United States cooperative, will be the keynote speaker for the first day.

D. I. Padberg of the University of Illinois will lead off the second day.

Several well-known Canadian and U.S. speakers include Dr. Hugh Horner, Alberta Deputy Premier; James Lore, Agricultural Consultant; Red Williams, University of Saskatchewan; Dale Stansbury, Economist, U.S. Senate and Murray

Hawkins, University of Alberta.

Organized by the University of Alberta and Rural

Education and Development Association, the seminar is expected to attract industry and government policy makers. It should have special interest for executives and officers in handling, processing and retailing food and feed, as well as consumer groups. A registration fee of $75 includes the banquet. Contact the Agricultural Supervisor, Faculty of Extension, University of Alberta, Corbett Hall, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2G4.

Wheat Board will extend flood permit deadline

WINNIPEG - Farmers will not be required to take re-delivery of grain delivered under special flood permits by the normal deadline of June 15, the Canadian Wheat Board has announced.

Flood permits are issued to allow farmers to deliver flood-threatened grain into elevators. They normally require the farmer to take re-delivery of any grain not covered under quota by June

15. The Board said that the extent of the flooding and the large quantities of grain delivered from flood areas this spring will make this date impractical.

Further procedures and a revised deadline for grain delivered under flood permits will be announced after the flooding is over and when it has more information on the types and quantity of grain involved, the Board said.

Spruce View's damage deposit

Sylvia Price, the executive assistant to the Minister of Housing and Public Works, said charging damage deposits in senior citizen homes that aren't provincially funded "is an area in which we don't interfere." The individual boards of directors at such institutions, she said, have the right to set whatever regulations and rates that they want.

Parent group providing important input at Sturgeon Composite

At Sturgeon Composite High School, some parents are doing a little more about their children's education than just signing report cards and turning up on parent-teacher nights.

They've formed a unique organization, Parents in Communication (PIC), to meet with teachers, parents, school principals and board of education members to provide policy input for their children's learning.

"We're going away from the model of a principal making a decision and then taking the flack for it," says PIC's president Edith Kowalski. Instead of one principal deciding education policies that affect several hundred students, PIC will work as a group to set those policies.

The results, Mrs. Kowalski says, is better decision-making, leading to policies that reflect concerns of everyone involved in a child's education.

Formed last November, PIC is made up of 12 parents, three teachers, two administrators and one student representative. Each of the parents was recommended by a board of education trustee, with two of them originating from each of the six board areas. Sturgeon Composite's student president Cherry Dodge, is PIC's student representative and the school's former principal, Bill MacDonald, is one of PIC's administrative members. PIC members are appointed for a two-year term and meet every three weeks.

Mrs. Kowalski says some of PIC's objectives include encouraging better communication among parents and teachers in Sturgeon Composite's operation, exploring program offerings at the school, encouraging its use by the community, studying school issues that concern parents and students and serving as an advisory group which offers an opportunity to discuss and resolve education issues.

One of the advantages of PIC, says Mrs. Kowalski, is that administrators get "immediate feedback" on the decisions they make. Students' comments on a new course, rescheduling of lunch hours or a new disciplinary program can be quickly relayed to their parents, to the PIC area representative and then back to the school teacher, principal or board member.

One of PIC's first meetings was spent with Mike Miles from the Parent Resource Unit. Mr. Miles taught PIC members effective methods of organization, communication and decision making. The meeting, Mrs. Kowalski says, "laid the foundation for the group to tackle any type of problem that came up."

One problem that has taken up much of PIC's time was the board's recent decision not to renew Bill MacDonald's contract as acting-principal at Sturgeon Composite. Mr. MacDonald, who is the one person actually responsible for the formation of PIC, says "the group had just got its feet wet and then my situation came up."

Mr. MacDonald's plans for forming PIC originated with a similar program that he organized in Winnipeg at another school.

PIC has several ambitious plans for providing policy input in the future. Mrs. Kowalski says one of PIC's biggest concerns is finding a solution to the split lunch hour program at the high school. Students are unhappy with the present situation but there's little choice for them as long as 700 to 800 people are attending a school with a cafeteria that only seats 125.

One more problem that PIC wants to tackle is the overloading of vocational courses at the school. Mrs. Kowalski says some students who want to take vocational courses are being turned away and yet the board of education's policy doesn't pay for a student's tuition if he or she takes similar courses in Edmonton schools.

Another issue that concerns PIC is expanding the personal communication and sex education courses at the school. One course, Life 15, offers students instruction in self-awareness, communication with others and areas of human development ranging from sexual relations to getting a job. "There is a need for a course like this," said Mr. MacDonald, "an expressed need."

Lois Hole, chairman of the Sturgeon District board of education, suggests that student parking may be another area in which PIC can offer its aid. "They might have some very good ideas on the school parking lot," Mrs. Hole said. The school has limited parking facilities, she said, and PIC could work towards deciding who should be entitled to them, whether on a need basis or a first-come, first-served system.

Students' career planning and development is another area that Mrs. Kowalski and Mr. MacDonald feel PIC should get into. They agree that too many children lack long-term direction. Mr. MacDonald says "a standard reaction to graduating from grade 12 is 'what am I going to do?' That just shouldn't be. Our system has fallen down when that occurs."

Japanese dairy farmers will live in Alberta

Alberta will take on more of an Oriental flavor for the next year as young Japanese dairy farmers live with Canadian families selected throughout the province.

Eight of the Japanese farmers were hosted by Olds College April 22-27 during a five day orientation week as a part of a dairy exchange program between Hokkaido and the province. Hokkaido is one of the main islands of Japan.

The young people range in age from 19 to 31. Fifty-four of the dairy farmers have come to Alberta since 1974, in addition to six professors and one student.

"Dairying is a huge industry in Hokkaido," said C. A. Cheshire, chairman of the Alberta-Hokkaido Dairy Exchange Committee. "There are 60,000 dairy farms there, compared to 1,000 commercial dairy farms in Alberta."

So far, Alberta has sent 10 exchangees and expects to send four more by the end of the year.

The Japanese arrived at Olds College on Monday, April 23, and met with host families on Friday. During the week, they were introduced to Canadian customs and currency, taken on a tour of the farm, treated to a barbecue, banquet and dance shown films and given lectures on Alberta dairy production, marketing, geography, culture and farm machinery.

Cheshire said that there are actually three levels to the program and that an exchangee can live in Alberta or Japan for one year. There is a farm level, where young people work directly on the farm; the student level, where Canadian students are exchanged for Japanese students (each goes to a university or college of his choice and learns dairying in the language spoken); and the professor instructor researcher level, where such a person teaches or researches in the host country.

Each country is responsible for arranging for travel, insurance, supplemental allowances and emergency requirements for its exchangees. The exchangees will work as a part of the family and perform everyday chores such as milking, feeding, breeding and management. He receives free time at the rate of at least one day per week, which may be accumulated for trips, tours, etc.

The host families are selected on the basis of their interest, and their dairy operation must be viable and reasonably modern. They must also be willing to accept the exchangees into their family activities. The young people are paid a minimum room and board. training allowance of $500

Van de Walle wants Workers' Compensation rebate going back to workers

Safety pays. Workers in the MD of Sturgeon may soon find out just how true that cliché can be.

At the next Public Works Committee meeting, Councillor Walter Van De Walle will be proposing that MD workers be given a rebate on their previous year's Workers' Compensation payments if they've had a relatively safe year.

Mr. Van de Walle explained in an interview last week that the Workers' Compensation Board returns a part of workers' payments if their occupation group has a better safety record than the national average.

In the past, he said, MD workers have often been above the average but the rebate has simply gone back to the MD. Mr. Van De Walle's proposal will give the money back to the workers themselves, either individually or in a fund set up for social activities or other causes.

"I think we should be doing everything we can to encourage safety in the MD," Mr. Van De Walle said. "And if the workers are the ones who are being careful, then they deserve to be rewarded."

He explained that national accident averages for Workers' Compensation are grouped according to industries and occupations. MD workers, he said, are generally classified as either rural or urban staff. Except for that difference they are grouped together, he said.

The next Public Works Committee meeting is on June 7. If Mr. Van De Walle's proposal achieves a majority vote, it will go before the MD council for their approval.

Exporters wheat cartel discussed

A spokesman for the North American Export Grain Association based in Washington, D.C. addressed the concept of a grain exporters cartel at a Palliser Wheat Growers International Grain Marketing Seminar held in Weyburn, Saskatchewan on April 21.

Mr. Joe Halow, executive director of the Export Association said, "The four major exporters may look like a significant force when considered in terms of total world trade in grains, but they produce only about 20 percent of the total amount of wheat harvested in the world. They are, therefore, hardly in a position to establish a world price which they can force other countries to pay without reduction in export volume."

Halow told the Weyburn area producers that if governments were to attempt to set prices indiscriminately at some artificial level, importing countries would turn to other wheats which they found more attractively priced.

"If the direction and control of the agreement will be in the hands of government, it will be administered more in the interests of the consumers, who are the ones who exert the greatest pressure on government," Halow commented. "There is no government which would be able to withstand consumer pressures over the cost of food," he emphasized.

Halow did feel there should be some form of dialogue and co-operation among the exporting countries in order to facilitate world trade. "... the U.S. and Canada have long been friendly competitors and they have more in common than the long boundary between our two countries. Rather than become co-conspirators to discourage trade expansion, our countries can continue to be friendly competitors and permit the world market to expand."

Professor Andrew Schmitz of the University of California also had words of caution about an International Grain Exporters Cartel. "To get a workable cartel quantities must be regulated, which is a sore point because we're here today trying to preach that exports should increase."

Schmitz says it would be fairly easy to have Argentina, Australia and Canada form some kind of exporters' cartel since they have institutions already in place to implement production controls such as quotas. However, the situation in the United States would be much more difficult as they do not have government-structured marketing boards. Schmitz pointed out that any kind of exporters cartel simply would not survive without U.S. participation.

Schmitz noted that regulation of quantities is the main reason for OPEC's success. He suggested problems would exist at least in the U.S.A. in attempting to regulate supplies of grain in the long term.

CHAMPION POUND SHEDDERS

Phyllis Natrass, Sharon Kieser and Shirley Barnes - display their award-winning form.

Ex-fatties celebrate victory

When this story arrived at the Gazette office the reporters gasped in amazement at the Morinville TOPS club's achievement over the past year. In total club members in Zone 5 dropped an incredible 9,300 pounds. Somewhere, 74.4 average sized people disappeared.

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) AB#2316 Morinville Chapter attended the 13th annual Provincial Recognition Days held May 12 and 13 at the Kinsmen Field House in Edmonton. The club won two of the eight provincial divisions. Phyllis Natrass took Division 2 with a 76 pound loss and Sharon Kieser took Division 8 by dropping 50 pounds.

The Club's Chapter Queen Shirley Barnes, lost 73 pounds and was runner-up for provincial queen. Club members displayed their second prize-winning banner symbolizing TOPS to KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly) Around The World.

Eight members of the club were honoured on Saturday, May 12 at the Graduation ceremonies - five KOPS: Shirley Barnes, Muriel West, Laurette Rivard, Rita Barrilla and Bonnie Romaniuk; and three KOPS of Long Standing: Ann Orbeck, Sandi Kane and Isabel Skjersven.

620 GRAIN DRILL

Take the positive approach to seeding.

With one of the biggest capacities in the industry (11.2 to 40.6 bushels), the 620 Grain Drill comes in 8, 10, 12 and 14-foot sizes. Choose plain grain hopper or combination hopper with 2-position divider for adjusting grain and fertilizer ration.

Centre-mounted forecarriage high flotation wheels provide a three-point suspension that allows the drill to follow ground contours in uneven terrain. Because the forecarriage wheels don't run in the tractor tracks, compaction is reduced and you seed closer to wet spots.

Zigzag double disk openers with front delivery place seeds in the bottom of the furrow for quick germination. Also, end-wise transport means less time getting there — available for use on 10, 12 or 14-foot drills to allow easy moving of up to 42-feet of drill width.

Other features include exclusive IH feed cup and drop bottom for easy clean-out of fertilizer to prevent corrosion.

Namao Plus 60 Club News

By Hazel Martin

The Namao 60 Plus Club held their regular meeting on May 17 in the Namao Hall with 31 members present.

In the absence of the president, Mr. Harold Clapp, who is recovering from an operation, Mrs. Daisy Craig chaired the meeting.

It was learned that we have the use of a microphone, which is held, in the Hub, and it was agreed to see about making use of this at our meetings.

The social afternoon to be held at the Villeneuve Community Hall on June 4 hosted by the "Happy 60" Senior Club was discussed, and 18 members will be attending, at 2 p.m.

Mr. Bruce Porter has been appointed to assist Mrs. Vi Samis in the preparing of a budget to be presented to the Alberta Culture with our application for a loan.

PLEASE NOTE: Our wind-up luncheon will be held on June 21 at 12 noon, and each member is requested to bring a guest. Mrs. Mary Nelsen will be the convenor.

The Alberta Heritage Learning Resources Project (Alberta Education) has presented to the Namao 60 Plus Club beautiful first editions on Alberta's history. Mrs. Daisy Craig will keep these in the library during the summer months. Anyone wishing to borrow a book may get in touch with her at 973-5944, or Mrs. Gladys McLay, at 973-5950, and either one will unlock the door, and keep a record of books out.

A letter of appreciation will be sent by the Secretary to Alberta Education.

Mr. Bruce Porter reported on the grant issued for the upgrading of the Namao Community Hall, and it was agreed that 60 Plus would support the Namao School and Community Club on this project.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in games, with a delicious lunch following served by Mrs. Kay Horricks and Mrs. Margaret Horricks.

Our next meeting will be on June 7 at 1:30 p.m. in the Namao Community Hall.

VIMY AND DISTRICT LIONS HOLD CHARTER NIGHT

On April 20 the Vimy and District Lions Club held its first-ever Charter Night. Some 150 people, which included honored guests and visiting clubs, all gathered for the banquet.

Events that took place were the induction of 52 Charter members of the Vimy Lions into the Lions Club International and installation of officers. District Governor Mike Letersky then presented the Charter to the Vimy Lions President John Roska. A dance then followed, some 200 people in attendance. A good time was had by one and all.

The Vimy Lions Club wish to thank the Don Robin Catering Service for the delicious supper. Also the Vimy Lions wish to express their sincere thanks to our sponsoring club, Clyde Lions Club, for their efforts and assistance in the formation of this new club. And to all those who have contributed to the success of our Charter Night and to the guests who have honored us by their presence, go our special thanks.

BOOK REVIEWS

Life among the Quallunaat. A penetrating insight into the struggle of a primitive mind and lifestyle to come to terms with White Civilization. Should be compulsory reading for all bureaucrats dealing with the Inuit.

Wanderer. The absorbing autobiography of the one-time film star Sterling Hayden. A rebel without a cause.

Leakeys Luck. A very human biography of a remarkable man. You must be acquainted with Anthropology and Archeology to appreciate this story of the search for Earliest Man.

All Babas Children. A rather familiar repeat of the Ukrainian struggle to make good. The authoress appears to want her people to be Ukrainians rather than Canadians, and to carry a fair size chip on her shoulder.

Don't forget the Library is continuing to display paintings by members of the Morinville Art Club. The current display is by Diane and Denis Sabourin.

The library also reminds its patrons that May has been declared amnesty month. There are still a few days left in which overdue books may be returned with no fine being charged. Please check around as the library is anxious to recover their books.

Alcomdale News

By Deryl Bailey, DOIDGE ON SAFETY TRIP

James Doidge is taking a two-week course in Safety and First Aid which is being held in the Windermere area of B.C. Mrs. Doidge accompanied him there and returned home a day after they arrived, but will travel out to Windermere at the end of the two weeks to drive home with her husband.

VISITORS

Mrs. J. M. Bailey had her niece Mrs. D. Bently and daughters, Joan of Sherwood Park and Mrs. D. Jensen of Edmonton to visit recently.

Mrs. D. Moore of Fort Saskatchewan was a weekend house guest of Mrs. J. Doidge recently.

ALCOMDALE COMMUNITY LEAGUE MEETING

The Alcomdale Community League held its regular monthly meeting May 2 in the hall with 14 members present. Old business was cleared up and a clean-up bee planned for the week of May 7. Due to summer and the busy season, (if weather ever permits), no social affairs were planned. The clean-up bee was held and the grounds around the hall and some stuff from ball-grounds removed. Inside the kitchen had a few odd tasks taken care of and the floors washed of the hall.

We hope that several family picnics can be held during the summer to make use of the grounds and enable the children to have a time of fun in a family gathering way. It was encouraging to see the larger number of members turn out for the meeting. Especially the young couples who will have to take on the job of keeping the league going for the benefit of their growing children.

OLD SPARGO FARM DAMAGED

The Thomas Spargo farm has been vacant for some time and escaped vandalism which is so prevalent in our country. The farm was sold recently and neighbours were pleased that the nice house would be once more occupied. However, the day before the new owners were to move in vandals broke the windows of this nice house and did some thousands of dollars of damage to it. It is beyond the comprehension of decent citizens to understand anyone deliberately wrecking other people's property. Such vandals if caught ought to be made to pay for their evil deeds.

New residents on the farm of Keiffler Bros. when opening up a culvert to drain water from the property were surprised to find lodged in the culvert several carcasses of what they assumed were dogs. The SPCA constable investigated and found they were coyotes and one appeared to be a dog. Since dogs have been shot in the area and one purebred female about to deliver a litter of purebred puppies last fall disappeared for no reason, it's suspected that these were the carcasses that were found.

Another small cocker spaniel had been shot right in the hamlet a short distance from its owner's property for no apparent reason about a year ago.

There aren't any words to express the contempt and disgust decent citizens feel for those who take out their spite against people by shooting and in some instances poisoning pets to get back at people, or because irresponsible owners do not keep their pets at home as they should. It is a criminal offense to shoot a dog and the penalty, as the SPCA constable says, is punishable by a fine or jail or both.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. DOLLY MITCHELL

The United Church in Independence was filled to capacity with some having to remain outside on May 5 for the funeral service of Mrs. Bertha (Dolly) Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell one of the few remaining early settlers of the district died May 2 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Denke, Fox Creek, Alberta.

Mrs. Mitchell who was 91 years old was active to the last having just returned shortly before her death from a visit to relatives in B.C. and other points. She was predeceased by her husband James in 1969, and for some years after his death remained on the farm in the district. Then she sold the farm and retired to the Pembina Lodge in Westlock.

She is survived by five sons and two daughters. Herbert of Duncan, B.C., Lloyd of Busby; Harris and Edward of Edmonton; Gerald of Westlock; Mrs. Stanley (Jean) Boe of Mannville; Mrs. Lloyd (Elva) Dehne, Fox Creek; 27 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Norman MacDonald officiated at the service. He is a local boy who knew Mrs. Mitchell from early childhood was able to do justice to the tiny little woman well-liked and respected in the district during the more than half a century she and her husband had resided in the district and attended the Independence Church. Interment is at Busby Cemetery. Donations may be made to the charity of your choice and sent c/o Box 7, Westlock, Alberta.

EARLY CONVERTIBLE?

"Fresh Air" travel was the order of the day in the early 1900's.

Rail life in the outdoors

By Margarette Atkinson
During the early 1900's people saw railway "work" vehicles going along the shiny rails with engines.

"Imagine that?" "By Gawd, what fancy, new fangled laziness will they think of next?"

"Dad blame it, ya sit in a danged good seat and go!"

But rain or shine, sleet or snow those two uncles of mine, along with their "man," inspected all that concerned bridges, stations and railway work.

"Even if you got drenched to near drowning, boy was that classy ridin'! Look at that fancy horse-hair padded, real leather covered seat and that carbide lamp!"

The "man" handled the hand brake and he took those "officials," where they needed to go. In style too - lunch pails and all. But those new-fangled, fancy vehicles were followed by vehicles that were closed-in cars.

Uncle Alex, on the right in the picture, sits in comfort, a B & B master. But bundled up in his rain coat, rubber boots and goggles whilst Uncle Jim a roadmaster for C.N.R. (later B & B Master at Saskatoon) is all snug and warm.

But railway life then was good. Sure, lots of wee shacks of "first" prairie stations were springing up across the land. The big wooden trestles were now sturdily spanning the beautiful Canadian rivers and streams as they rushed and boiled in their endless hurry.

There was beauty all around to be seen. And, time to see it, while travelling in this. There were time schedules taken so no un-due trains were a problem. These outdoor vehicles were a treasure really.

In the first place you breathed pure fresh air -- no 'dad-blamed' stuffy car with someone smoking or some 'over-stuffed know-it-all' pulling down the blind for a snooze just when I'm looking at something nice. WHAM, I just up and whack him with my purse, pull up that blind and shove his hat down over his eyes. When I ride somewhere I want to see all I can.

If someone wants to travel and snooze, wear blinders or get a bed, gol' darn it! (He was a big son of a gun too!). But 105 pounds is just as good as over 200 if there's something worth seeing

Now you can understand what's the best, even if it rains or whatever. These two of dad's brothers are now at eternal rest. God Bless them. They sure knew, "Rail Life in the Outdoors."

By Karen Hogg GIBBONS AGRI-FAIR

Only a few more weeks before the Gibbons Agri Fair. Start your weekend off with the pancake breakfast at 8 a.m., Saturday, June 16. The cost is one Agri-Fair button (good for the whole weekend) at $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for 15 years and under.

Watch the parade at 11 a.m. and see the exhibits and the grounds when they open at noon. There's also a barbecue, a minor soccer tournament and other amusements. At 1 p.m. a 4H Dairy Show is scheduled.

Saturday night there's a dance, and don't forget: tickets bought before May 31 are at a reduced rate of $12 a couple. They can be purchased from any board member or at the Royal Bank.

On Sunday there's a horse show from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and a car rally from noon onwards. An egg toss is scheduled for 1 p.m. and a pet show at 3 p.m. Saturday's barbecue, soccer tournament and other amusements and exhibits will also continue. So plan to attend. It's fun for the whole family.

GET WELL WISHES

We wish a speedy recovery to long-time resident of Gibbons, Nick Konsorádo, who was in the Fort Saskatchewan Hospital over the weekend. Hope you're feeling better soon.

CIRCLE LADIES SAY THANK-YOU

The Sunday School Circle Ladies would like to thank everyone who came to their tea on May 6. The lucky winners were Mrs. Alice Derouin who won the beautiful quilt and little Kim Guzak who won the Mickey Mouse cake made by Della Gibbons.

AMWAY TEEN CONTEST

There will be a Miss Amway Teen Contest this year at the Agri-fair in Gibbons. Girls between the ages of 13 and 19 may enter by calling 923-3395 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

There are several beautiful prizes including T-shirts, shampoo, cycle hats, cycle ruck sacks, decals, a make-up session, hair analysis, a wall mural, a barbecue table and some house paint.

Watch for posters in Gibbons with further details.

Library offers new biographies

Among the books you will find in the non-fiction section of the Gibbons Public Library is a selection of biographies and autobiographies.

Alan Villiers has written an historical account of the life of Captain James Cook, Captain of the famed Endeavour, Cook spent most of his life at sea. The little time he did spend on land was almost all taken up with charting and surveying previous voyages and in preparation for the next. His adventures prompted the author to call Captain Cook "the most consistent and greatest sailing ship seaman there ever was."

The store of a modern day shipping magnate is "Aristotle Onassis." A team of four London Sunday Times writers have teamed up to write about one of the world's wealthiest people. The book covers Onassis' turbulent childhood, his marriages, and his family as well as his life as a ship-owner.

"The Woman He Loved" by Ralph G. Martin tells of the Duchess of Windsor: her childhood, her first marriage to Ernest Simpson and subsequent divorce. Her marriage to the man who was born to serve as King of England is a dramatic part of this beautiful love story.

Patricia Bosworth's book "Montgomery Clift: A Biography" has received some excellent reviews. George Burns' "Living It Up" is full of anecdotes and recollections of great performers. Entertainer Frank Sinatra's story is told by author Earl Wilson in "Sinatra."

Another new addition to the non fiction section is "Karen Ann," the story of Karen Ann Quinlan up to the time she fell into a coma and the legal battle that allowed her to be disconnected from the respirator. The book is written by Karen's parents, Joseph and Julie Quinlan, with Phyllis Battelle.

Those who watched the recent "Family and the Law" series on TV may obtain the printed resource material for this program from the Gibbons Library Information File.

Remember to bring your children to the library on Saturdays from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. for Story Hour. New members are always welcome; if you are new in town, do come in and browse. The library is located in the fire hall building on main street. The hours are 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Saturday and Wednesday afternoons and from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Memberships are $1 a year for adults; 50¢ for children.

A welcome home is extended to Dale and Janet Lewis, recently arrived from New Haven.

CATECHISM NEWS

The weather co-operated wonderfully for the wind-up wiener roast and we all enjoyed the event very much. Our thanks to the Rivet family for hosting the wind-up and to the students from the youth group who helped with the games. Students and teachers -- have a good summer holiday. Our registration date for the new fall term will be announced in early September.

TINY TOTS

The date for the Pokerthon has been changed to June 16 as it was not possible to get a permit for June 9. That means more time to shape up before the run. Starting time is from 2 to 3 p.m. The registration fee is $2. Prizes will be a percentage of the proceeds. Cold drinks will be available at each check point for the runners. Kids, moms and dads, we hope to see you all running.

FLEA MARKET

A reminder about the Flea Market at Northtown Mall on May 27. Volunteers are needed to work on this day. Donations for the Flea Market may be left with Sande Olson, 921-3611, Karen Germaine, 921-3788 and Sharon MacFadyen, 921-3815.

FARMERS' MARKET

You are reminded of the Farmers' Market at the arena on May 23 and 30. These will be the last markets until the second Wednesday in July when they will resume on a regular basis until mid-September. Market time is from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Besides innumerable potted and bedding plants, jewellery and other handicrafts ideal for gift giving, there are fresh eggs, home-made jams, jellies, orange marmalade, pickles and honey. This Wednesday a Walt Disney film will also be shown in the Cave.

Bon Accord 4H Beef Club News

By George Doblanko Club Reporter

The club held its eighth regular meeting on May 7. Greg Uchacz and Daryl Zilinski did impromptus and Susan Abramski gave a report on showmanship. The club decided to work the booth at the Big Barley Rodeo on the 16th and 17th of June. We also had brief discussions on our stall display, our show and sale and summer camps.

We would like to inform everyone about the dates and times of our show and sale.

Our show will be held on June 10 at 1 p.m. at the Bon Accord Arena and on June 11 at the Northlands Pavilion.

The inter-club competition begins at 9 a.m. and the sale starts at 1:30 p.m. We hope to see you all there.

No. 524 Sturgeon Air Cadets

Spit and polish is the order of the day as #524 squadron gets everything in readiness for the final inspection. Cadets have spent quite a few hours preparing displays for viewing by special guests, parents and visitors. Final inspection will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, May 27 in the Gibbons School. Everyone is invited to attend.

Cadet activities do not end with the final inspection or even with the final parade June 5. #524 Squadron has been asked to participate in the Farmers' Day parade June 9 in Redwater. On June 12 cadets from Bon Accord and Gibbons will be assisting at a blood donor clinic to be held in the Bon Accord Community Hall.

Cadets will be going to summer camps and on scholarship courses. They will be receiving final instructions within the next few weeks and are looking forward to a terrific summer. Congratulations to WO 11

Fred Hutchings who gave the valedictory address at the graduation ceremonies at Sturgeon Composite High School last Friday.

His speech was excellent for, while thanking parents and teachers for their part in bringing the students this far, he stressed that each person is ultimately responsible for what he or she wants to achieve in life.

X-rays and insects

Many insects burrow into the inside of fruits and vegetables making an assessment of damage difficult without dissecting the plants.

Scientists at Agriculture Canada's Saint-Jean, Que., Research Station are now exploring the use of a new x-ray method called xerography to observe insects inside fruits and vegetables.

This method allows the researchers to study the development of the insect and at the same time accurately assess damage.

Family plan is $8.50 for a family of two adults and three or more children. BOYS AND GIRLS! Draw a picture of your dad and his favorite hobby. You could win a free breakfast for all the family on Father's Day.

Entries must be drawn on a 9" x 11" sheet in black and white or color. Print your name and phone number on the back. Leave your picture at Pollies Follies before Saturday afternoon, June 16. The pictures will be judged on Saturday afternoon and the winner notified. All pictures will be on display at the pancake breakfast at the Legion, June 17.

SALUTE TO YOUTH

It is the wish of the Kinsmen Club of Redwater to recognize the work and effort of the youth of Redwater and district. To be eligible for a $100 grant, the individual must be 17 years old or less as of January 1, 1979 and have contributed to the good of our community in some way. The $100 will be presented at the graduation ceremonies on June 1, 1979 at the Deric Hall.

Nomination forms are available at all retail outlets in Redwater and must be returned to the Kinsmen Club of Redwater no later than May 29, 1979. It is our hope that more people will take an interest in this program and nominate some of the deserving young people in our community. A selection will be made by a panel of three respected citizens in the community.

LADIES SOFTBALL

Ladies softball players meet every Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Multiplex diamond. For further information please call Joanne at 735-3099.

#524 STURGEON AIR CADET SQUADRON

The #524 Sturgeon Air Cadet Squadron wishes to thank all the businesses and clubs in Redwater, Gibbons and Bon Accord for their generous contributions and extends to them an invitation to their final inspection on Sunday, May 27 at 1:30 p.m. at the Gibbons School.

SOCCER SCORES

This week's soccer scores are: Mini-mites division - Redwater 1, Gibbons 0 at Gibbons; Redwater 4, Morinville 1 at Redwater; Pee-wees division - Redwater 0, Bon Accord 4 at Bon Accord; Bantams division - Redwater 0, Fort Saskatchewan 4 at Redwater.

RECREATION BOARD

The Redwater Recreation Board meets the first Monday of every month in the council chambers. New members are needed. If you are interested, please call Tony Flierl at 735-3320.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

Volunteer firemen are required for the Town of Redwater. If you are interested in this area of community service, come on out to one of the meetings, which are held every Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Fire Hall.

IMPORTANT MEETING

The Redwater Ambulance Brigade is holding an important meeting on Wednesday, May 23 at 7 p.m. at the Pioneer Club. All members are urged to attend.

Horse Hill News

By Esther Wallbank

Because the meeting room was used as a polling station for the federal election on May 22, the May Community League meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 29 at 8 p.m.

Baseball is well underway, with most teams having experienced being on the loser's side as well as on the winners. We have these girls teams playing in the Sturgeon Girls Fastball League, two teams in a senior ladies league, three boys teams playing in the Sturgeon Boys Baseball League. A midget team participating in an Edmonton league as there was only one other team in Sturgeon in this division, and a group of boys eight and under are spending some time learning basics and playing T-ball. This makes for a very busy area most week nights. The access road around to the back to the south of the school has not been passable, and we encourage people to park in the parking area and walk around to the diamonds.

The annual spring tea was held on Saturday, May 12 and we would like to thank all those who helped in any way, either with the fashion show, the tea itself, or by donating baking for the bake table.

The small attendance was a bit of a disappointment, but those who were present enjoyed a well-planned, well-presented fashion show, which included models representing all age groups, and many fashion highlights. Many of the clothes modelled were hand made, proof of some very talented people in the community. Commentator was Elaine Hood, who was assisted in planning, preparation and running of the show by Peggy Farrell and Tanis Watrin.

Winner of the adult door prize, a large lipstick plant in a macrame hanger was Mrs. Nellie Readner, grandchild of Mari Vonne Speer, long time resident of the area, and former teacher at Horse Hill, who now resides in Fort Saskatchewan and Leona Coates, and Deanne Danke-wich won the children's door prizes.

There was a lovely display of silk flower arrangements which had been made during classes this spring instructed by Kay Gogelra, and a display of a sample of the work done at the window treatment classes that have been held in the area.

Once again, thanks to all who helped in any way.

Sympathy of the people in the area is extended to Tanis and Duane Watrin and family on the recent passing of Tanis's father Cyril Shaw.

Livestock Phone-in Service

Agriculture Canada's free phone-in service for livestock markets information is proving popular with the public.

The 24 hour a day service has been available across the country on Zenith lines since November 1, last year. About 700 calls are registered every week.

The toll-free number to call for the English report is 1-800-267-8360. The French language report can be heard by calling 1-800-267-8370.

THE LONG WEEKEND

As was predicted, the campers and trailers were packed and after the treacherous trip down the old "Triple 'S' Freeway" the folks were off. It seems that piece of road was a true test of vehicles for whatever might happen.

Brenda and Ken Hurly along with young Chad, spent the weekend visiting relatives in Lloydminster.

Jo-Anne and Todd Lucas took their parents to Lake Isle for the holiday.

These old bones are no longer up to the rigors of a camp cot, so we visited old friends, and old nags in Calgary.

WINNER

The Big Way Barbecue was won by Audrey Hackman #256. Henry Lord tells us as long as support remains the same, so will prices. That's good news.

COMMUNITY LEAGUE

We're still hoping to see the Community League re-activated. Hopefully, some of our new families have some ideas, and together with the know-how of the oldtimers, we should be able to get it rolling again.

PRETTYING UP

All the planting and trimming going on in the Park leads one to believe that the judges for that landscape contest, will surely have their work cut out for them in August. It all makes for a nicer place to live, and the gardening efforts are appreciated by all.

GET WELL

Patty Henderson is recuperating at home, after a short stay in hospital. Speedy recovery Patty.

We sure hope Aunt Mabel feels better soon.

FIRST AID TIPS

Heard a couple of handy ideas: if you iron tea towels by folding the inside out you'll have a sterile bandage for burns etc.

To ease the pain of a burn, pour milk on it. The cold milk eases the burn and is easily cleaned off.

In the case of bleeding, any sani-pad makes a sterile pressure bandage.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Starting next week the Fire Department will be meeting every Monday night. You can enroll at any of these meetings, or contact Don Lazeta at 973-7541 anytime.

PETS

In view of the large number of dogs and cats prevalent in the Park, it has become necessary for the Park management to institute an enumeration. Someone will call on you, and you are asked to co-operate by giving them the information requested about your animal.

You will be asked to show an up to date immunization certificate. This is for the protection of your children as well as your pet.

CLEAN-UP

Kids and adults - our annual clean-up day is set for Saturday, May 26. Be at the clubhouse at 10 a.m. John and Dorothy French have the Red Hots all ready.

All residents please place your winters accumulation at the front of your driveway first thing Saturday, May 26. This includes discarded tires, batteries, lumber, water tanks, you name it, and it will be picked up, FREE of charge.

You will find an "invitation" in your mail box. When the driver picks up your trash, he will initial it, and that's your ticket to the "goodies."

Hot dogs and drinks are on from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m. and again at 4 p.m.

An excellent job was done by the participants last year and we know you can be counted on again now, to help beautify Evergreen again this year.

BRICKS AND BOUQUETS

This week a bouquet to Alice, in the service office, who doesn't scream back.

Bricks to the tail-gaters on Oliver Avenue. There are many. If a pot-hole doesn't get you, maybe one of these guys will.

Till next time, watch the kids around the barbecue, and remember if you don't pick up your Gazette you may NEVER know what's news.

Tennis tournament coming

The 10th annual St. Albert Open Invitational Tennis tournament will be held Friday, June 1 to Sunday,

June 3. Persons who may be interested in playing in this tournament are asked to pick up entries at the clubhouse. The entry deadline is Tuesday, May 29 at 6 p.m. Entries should be sent to Fred Resler, 9 Farmstead Avenue. The number of entries is limited to 32 in both singles events (and in men's singles there are always more interested than can be accommodated) so interested players would be wise to get their entries in early. The entry fee is $8 per event and the events are men's and ladies singles, men's and ladies doubles, mixed doubles. Secondaries will be held in all events. For further information phone Fred Resler at 459-4967. Phone entries however are not accepted and fees must accompany entry form.

For those persons who may not be interested in playing but would be interested in seeing a high calibre of tennis the finals in the events will be held at approximately 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 3.

The Tennis Club is holding a "disco" as their opening social function and would like to encourage all members (and friends) to attend. For further information phone Mary Heathfield 458-7218.

Standard Generals edge West Edmonton

St. Albert's entry in the Edmonton and District Non-Contact Lacrosse League came out ahead in its first game of the season last Wednesday against West Edmonton at Perron Arena.

Standard General's Conrad Oleson opened scoring in the first period, and the local team never looked back. Kelly Waters put St. Albert ahead in the second period, before the visitors hit the scoreboard. Waters' third period goal proved to be the winner in a very exciting match which ended 3-2.

Coaches Richard Nadeau and Greg Miller were very pleased at the performance of their small team. Only seven players are registered with the Standard Generals, and one of those was missing Wednesday evening. The team passes well and is quite aggressive; however, the non-contact format rules out the rougher style of older players, and the fans saw a very pleasing and entertaining competition. Any boys or girls born later than January 1, 1969 are still welcome to join. Call Richard Nadeau at 459-8475 or SALA President, Bob Lane at 458-2155.

Second annual fun run Sunday

The second annual Gazette-City of St. Albert "Fun Run" goes this Sunday at 2 p.m.

The Fun Run had 103 runners, joggers and walkers last year, and this year about 300 are expected to take up the 4 km jog.

The run starts and finishes at Sir Alexander Mackenzie School on Sir Winston Churchill Avenue. The course goes east along Churchill Avenue, north down Boudreau Road, west along Sturgeon for a block and a half, then south through the Braeside Ravine, and back to SAM. Registration for the event is between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m., and it costs one dollar. The dollar will get you a special "Fun Run" T-shirt if you complete the course.

There will be no competitive race, as the run is strictly a family type Sunday afternoon jog. Everyone is eligible to participate.

If there is sufficient interest in a "race," one may be held along with next year's Fun Run, but for the time being, the Fun Run is only for fun.

Grab your sneakers and meet us down at SAM school on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Marty O'Kell On Sports

I SURE FEEL SORRY FOR THE WIVES of sports fans around this area. There has been so much going on...both on the tube and at the local stadiums. I know one thing...my wife is VERY glad that the hockey season is now officially over.

It's been such a strain around the house. Watching the Oilers at the Coliseum...then watching them on T.V. Watching the Stanley Cup finals. Going to the Commonwealth Stadium to catch the Drillers soccer club. Once and a while I have to miss a game just to show the better half that I'm still around.

She's going to hit the ceiling when I tell her that football starts soon. I think I'll have to start looking for a hotel room.

Well, what can you say about these crazy playoffs. It certainly doesn't surprise me that the Montreal Canadiens are the Stanley Cup Champs. It did surprise me that they did it in five games. With all this hulabaloo about how great the Rangers have become, I figured it would take seven games before the series was decided.

But it was a good series...clean and fast. The Canadiens showed the world why they are the Stanley Cup champions for the fourth time in a row. They played superbly in the four games they won, especially on Monday night. They wanted that Cup badly...and it was nice to win in front of the home town fans.

And the Oilers losing the Avco Cup...that disappoints me. The Oilers ARE the best team in the WHA. But the Winnipeg Jets proved they can play better when the real money is on the line. It wasn't a bad series though...despite the fact that Edmonton has never won a hockey cup in the seven years of the now defunct league.

For next year...the Oilers will do anywhere from poor to fair in the NHL. We'll just have to wait and see how the drafts go next month. That should be very interesting...there's a lot of wheeling and dealing going on behind closed doors.

HEY...SUNDAY IS FUN RUN DAY. The run is sponsored by the Gazette and the City of St. Albert, and its 4 kilometers. The starting line is at Sir Alexander Mackenzie School on Churchill Avenue...so is the finish line. It'll cost you a buck, but we'll give you a real nice T-shirt if you make it back to the finish line. (They're denim with the Fun Run logo on it).

The run will begin at 2 p.m...but registration is from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. So what you do is bring a dollar and bring the family...then run it, jog it, or walk it...or a combination of the above. It's all in the name of good, clean fun. See you there.

WANNA SEE A BUNCH OF HARD WORKERS? Keep your eye on the members of the Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball Association. On Monday, they finally got their sod laid at Meadowview Diamonds. This week, the fence will get installed, and the concrete dugouts should go in shortly. These guys are so enthusiastic about the whole deal...they're getting dozens and dozens of players out to help build the thing.

Maybe City Council can help them out a bit by digging into the coffers and assisting them with an installation of lights. The GSAMFA has lined up some lights, (from the old Clarke Stadium Fastball Park) and with a few more bucks, St. Albert will be able to watch competitive ball "under the lights." I love the sight of beautiful green grass shimmering in the incandescence of the night.

BAD NEWS BEARS? Some of the Gazette staffers made it out to a local diamond on Sunday to practice our skills at the game of softball. It's getting closer and closer to the June 3 contest between us and CKST. I understand the radio people have played a couple of games, but they lost one of them by about twenty five runs. The other one I don't know...but I do know WE need much more practice. At first we looked BAD. But after a while, things started to fall into place. Now we know how to throw the ball from centre field to home plate, and still come within ten yards of the catcher. Should be interesting. (I think I'll try and arrange another practice).

NEAT IDEA DEPARTMENT ... heard someone suggest paving outdoor rinks would make the game of lacrosse a lot more enjoyable for the players. Take some of the nice weather we've had recently. Wouldn't it be nice if the kids could play in the sun, rather than in the closed-in arena's? After all ... some games scheduled for Perron Arena last year were RAINED OUT! (leaky roof).

The idea does make sense. But the only drawback is of course the rain. You could always move a game indoors, but the paved rinks would have to be squeegeed (I think it's spelled like that) after a rainfall.

Anyways ... it might be worth looking into.

Tennis registrations at courts

Please note that registrations for tennis lessons as detailed in last week's Gazette will not be held at Perron Arena. They will be held at the Mission Courts Clubhouse on Wednesday, May 23 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Spring skating ends

The off-season spring school sponsored by the St. Albert Figure Skating Club ended last week with test days on Thursday and Friday. The club can be proud of its volunteer leadership and help, for without them, there would not have been the many compliments that were received.

A huge club thank you to Jacquie Malinowski, chairman, and Marilyn Lambourne, co-chairman, for their excellent job in organizing the program. They and their group of helpers (playing the music and supervising along with the five dozen skaters and seven coaches) filled the arena atmosphere with four weeks of congeniality. The program planning with its rules and regulations received much praise from other club participants as well as from our own. The sharing of ideas and learning was evident between skater and skater, coach and coach, coach and parent, parent and parent besides the usual skater learning from the coach! New friendships were established.

A thank you, also, to Marilyn Lambourne and her helpers in planning, serving, and providing the delicious food for meals and snacks for the judges. Your contributions were very greatly appreciated. This is the least we can do for the judges who volunteer their time to come and test our skaters.

Another deserving thank you goes to Joyce Boutette, test chairman, for her endeavours to obtain the judges required for all participating skaters. It was disappointing and unfortunate that some of the senior skaters could not be tested and in so doing culminate months of hard work and effort.

Although the tests are more stringent the following list of skaters were successful: Jr. Dances: Dutch Waltz - Dana Chartrand, Jennifer Lassiter; Swing Dance: Dana Drysdale, Barbara Weller, Johanna Read; Ten Fox: Sharon Martin, Susan Pifko (Morinville); Willow Waltz: Susan Pifko (Morinville), Jennifer Ham-

Sturgeon Swingers

The Sturgeon Ladies Golf Club is into its '79 season and has had over 50 ladies out for the first two Tuesdays. May 8 was the first ladies day and coffee was served while membership dues were collected, tee times were drawn and the ladies chatted to their old golf chums after such a long, drawn out winter.

There were lots of "mulligans," "whiffs," "snake-rappers," and you name it, as many were swinging at the little white ball for the first time this year. Many of the ladies attempted 18 holes, some didn't finish and those who did came in looking very weary and wind blown. Hopefully a few more rounds will build up some stamina!

Jim Jempson donated a beautiful cardigan sweater for a door prize. This was won by one of our new members.

May 15 was the first fun day. Ladies were placed on teams of three and prizes were awarded to the teams with the low gross and the low net. Susan Firth's team with June Raven and Irene Garrick won for overall low gross. Individual prizes were given to Jean Varner and Gil Spenser for low net on 9. Susan Firth's low gross and Flora Barry's low net on 18.

Betty Olesky and her social committee were busy afterwards putting on a delicious lunch.

The Capilano Appliance tournament is underway and the Sturgeon team of Shirley Holman and Gil Spenser defeated a team from the Glendale to advance to the quarter finals in the fourth flight.

There are pin rounds coming up, the Summer Games team tryouts, and the much talked about Geritol Tournament for seniors which will take place on Thursday, June 14. Sign up on the sheets in the locker room and keep watching the bulletin board for other golfing events.

St. Albert bantam lacrosse clubs meet

As a result of combining forces with North Glenora, St. Albert has two bantam lacrosse clubs entered in the Edmonton and District Lacrosse League this year. This marks the first time that any organization has fielded more than one representative team in this league. The two local teams, the Toros and the Saints, met in competition for the first time last Thursday, and the results were very interesting.

The Toros, which had previously won twice against weaker opposition, began the game by scoring three quick goals against the Saints, who had lost their first two contests against much stronger teams. Before the first period ended, however, Saints had recovered their poise and scored twice.

The second period was very close, with tight checking by both teams. Again, the Toros forged ahead with two straight goals, and again the Saints came back, collecting a single late in the period, to put the game at 5-3.

The Saints came out in the third period playing their best lacrosse of the game. Taking full advantage of defensive errors, they scored three straight goals, putting the Toros behind for the first time this season. This burst by the Saints was short lived, however, as the Toros came back with vengeance, managing to score four consecutive goals in the last eight minutes of the game. The final score of 9-6 reflects the relative evenness of these teams and continued friendly rivalry should produce some exciting action as the season progresses.

Top scorer of the game was Saints' Jock Liscomb, who picked up four goals and two assists. Danny McClain and Troy Haugen scored the other Saints' goals, while Steven Gunn collected two assists, and Haugen one.

For the Toros, Dave Kendall collected three goals and an assist, while Tony Baller and Doug Lissey each scored twice, and Graham Thompson and Erin Oor notched singles. Oor and Thompson were also awarded assists, as was John McKinley.

Next weekend, both the Toros and the Saints will travel to Whitecourt for league play in that town. Then the Toros will host the league powerhouse, Gold Bar, at Perron Arena the following Monday. Later that week, on Thursday, Saints will go to Edmonton to face South Edmonton; and will complete their May schedule at home on the 30th against Enoch.

Plans are now underway to host a major Edmonton lacrosse tournament at Akinsdale Arena on the July 1 weekend. Eight Alberta teams will be invited, with more than 20 games slated for the three-day event. Details will be provided at a later date.

TWO MINUTES FOR CROSSCHECKING

The action was wild and woolly at Perron Arena last Thursday between St. Albert's two bantam lacrosse teams, the Toros and the Saints. The Toros won the contest 9-6 led by the three-goal performance of Dave Kendall. The Saints' Jock Liscomb scored four goals in a losing cause, and added two assists to his personal total.

Drillers limp home

The Edmonton Drillers soccer club limped back to Edmonton after a 4-1 beating at the hands of the hometown Detroit Express.

The Drillers suffered many injuries in the rough contest, including two broken toes on the foot of striker Lorenz Hilkes. Defender Joe Raduka left the game early with a torn thigh muscle, while Ron Klinkenberg suffered a severely sprained ankle. Hilkes and Raduka will be out of action for a few weeks, while Klinkenberg will miss two games. Andy Atuegbu played most of the game in Detroit with pulled stomach muscles, but will probably dress for the Drillers game tonight against the Philadelphia Fury.

Just over ten thousand fans took in the game at the Pontiac Silverdome, and watched as the Express took a 1-0 half-time lead on a goal by Roger Osborne.

The second half saw the Edmonton defence fall apart with injuries, and Keith Furphy, Danny Vaughn and Sam Oates potted goals to give the Express a commanding lead. Lee Attack ruined Detroit netminders Jim Brown's shutout bid with a goal late in the game.

On another note, the Drillers have signed Rob Ouwehand from Den Haag of the Dutch Honor League. The six foot three inch defender will be an added plus for the Drillers, especially with the injury problems.

The Drillers are at home tonight to the Philadelphia Fury, with game time at 7:30 p.m. at the Commonwealth Stadium. On Saturday, the Drillers will continue with their home stand as they host the San Jose Earthquakes. Next Wednesday, the Vancouver Whitecaps will be in town.

THE BEGINNING OF THE PITS

A happy group of people gathered last week at a sod turning ceremony for the Horseshoes venue, which will be built by the Knights of Columbus for the Alberta Summer Games. Ovide Hebert, Bernie Vaugeois, and Lorne Wood (the three in the centre) manned the shovels, while Mickey Casavant, Frank Lukay, Jack Patterson, Bernie March, Rich Mercier, Joe Laplante and Jerry Manegre look on. The horseshoe venue is located behind the Senior Citizens Centre on Tache Street. Construction will begin soon.

Bantam Toros too much for Enoch

St. Albert's bantam Toros haven't forgotten last year's opener, when, being very inexperienced, they received a sound 24-1 whipping by Edmonton Gold Bar. Last Wednesday the situation was reversed, as the more experienced St. Albert club met a newly formed Enoch club, and came out as 14-0 winners.

To give the Toros credit, they recalled their feelings a year ago, and after taking a 7-0 first period lead, they ceased off and concentrated on trying to improve their playmaking; rather than running the score out of sight.

The first goal came after only eight seconds when centre Erin Oor, captured the face-off and passed to a breaking Chris Lane, who scored cleanly. Lane led the home club scoring with a hat trick, while Captain Dave Kendall, Erin Oor, Lee Carter and Doug Lissey each scored twice, and singles were collected by Tony Baller, Gordie MacKenzie and John McKinley.

The game was cleanly played with five minor penalties issued to each team. It was the first game ever for most Enoch players, and fans can expect rapid improvement from them.

Canadiens win 22nd Stanley Cup

Montreal Canadiens defeated the New York Rangers 4-1 Sunday night in Montreal to win their 22nd Stanley Cup and fourth in a row.

Canadiens lost the opening game in Montreal to the Rangers by a 4-1 score but then came on strong to win four straight by scores of 6-2, 4-1 and 4-3 in overtime.

Canadiens opened the scoring in the first period with a shot from the point by Rick Chartraw being deflected off Rangers Carol Vadnais past New York goaltender John Davison.

Rangers scored their only goal of the game on a similar play as Vadnais lofted a high shot from the point that bounced between Canadian goalie Ken Dryden's legs.

Canadiens really turned on the power in the second period as they scored three goals and dominated most of the 20 minutes.

Jacques Lemaire took the puck out from his own zone and just before reaching the Ranger blue line, let a tremendous slapshot go that appeared to hand cuff Davidson and found its way into the net for what proved to be the winning goal. The scoring play came with the Canadiens on the powerplay.

Bob Gainey, who was voted the Conn Smythe Trophy winner for the playoffs most valuable player, added the insurance marker on a deflection past Davidson after being set up by Doug Jarvis.

The Canadiens final goal came from Lemaire, who scored on a back-hander on a clear cut break-a-way.

The third period was scoreless although the Canadiens and Rangers had some good scoring chances.

Gainey's selection as the playoffs most valuable player was a unanimous choice of the sports writers and broadcasters covering the series, and it marked the third year in a row that a member of the Canadiens has won and eighth time a Montreal player has won since the trophy was put in 1964.

Lemaire, with his two goals in the final game, was the top goal scorer with 11 while team-mate Guy Lefleur had 10.

Canadiens outscored the Rangers 19 to 11 in the five game series.

THE GRASS IS ALWAYS GREENER . . .

The gang from the Greater St. Albert Fastball Association were down at Meadowview Diamonds on Monday laying sod on the outfields of the two ball parks. The diamonds will be home base for the GSAMFA when they're completed, sometime next month. Over 50 players from the league turned out, even though the day was cool and windy.

Follow the Lacombe Park Red Roosters around Mosquito country (near Sir George Simpson School) and you'll see some close baseball games.

This past week the St. Albert Rangers almost had barbecued rooster losing only 15-14 to the undefeated league leaders.

Other tight tussles involved the surprising Buxton Beavers who "slithered" past the Safeway Seals 9-8 and gave the Mohawk Braves a 21-16 haircut. The gallant Gazette Cards were dealt a 13-11 loss at the hands of the Nu-West Homers.

Mosquito headmaster Chuck Jones indicated to us that most of his coaches know they have until June 2 to make up rained-out games (such as those of last week) before the "new" A & B division season gets underway on June 4.

We're sure glad the first part of the Beaver division is heading for end tomorrow night - maybe we'll have a chance to sort things out with the Beaver coaches.

Please fellas - don't go by the standings printed this week. It's based only on available information collected from over half the winning coaches - obviously, half isn't enough. We're sorry, we really don't have the time this year to check and double check, but as long as we're not the official statistician this year - we guess it really doesn't matter.

At any rate, Coach Dave Ackerman of the top notch Sturgeon Valley Sodbusters left us info on the Busters latest games (thanks Dave) of course they were all wins. In a 7-4 turfing of the Mission Ridge Dodgers, two runs were tallied by Rick Owen - excellent pitching was displayed by both teams. Rick Owen and Casey Wheatley provided the Sodbusters with fine pitching, with great batting and running by Tim Maruyama and Mike Hendrigan the other ingredients in their come-from-behind 10-5 capping of Coach Ash Kahn's Crown Well Drillers. The St. Albert Sportshop Cubs pitchers had trouble finding the plate for the first few innings against the Sturgeon Valley "Sodmen" and fell behind 10-0. However the pitching of Maruyama and Wheatley spilled doom for the Cubs before they could get on track. Coach Ackerman confided that Todd Carnelly behind the plate along with good hitting of Hendrigan, Carnelly and Brad Paicy - had a lot to do with eventual 15-7 burying. Earl MacLennan made a great double play for the victors to finish off the match.

Coach Craig Walker cited the outstanding performance of Wes Gendrick in his team's 22-9 unhitching of Neil's Trailer Kings last Monday. The Sportshop Cub 3rd sacker put in his first full game since returning to the lineup after a horrible bout with pneumonia. Wes returned to the lineup to crack out a total of three doubles. Nice going, Wes!

Ed Frier, head coach of Springer's Angels was completely elated when he called us to tell us the Angels upset the same Trailer Kings 7-3. Brad Reinholt was the winning flinger, sez Ed.

BANTAM DIVISION RAINED OUT WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS

Judging by the small number of game results we have pre-supposed that the weather figured prominently in the bantam division's lack of action.

Neil's Bantam Trailer Kings completed a series with Coach Lyle Laliberte's Link Hardware Blue Jays - defeating them 16-10 Tuesday and followed it up 25-6 Thursday. Cliff Pannebaker of the Kings pitched the initial tilt win and came back to insure the Thursday victory.

Celebrating Victoria Day in grand style were Mike Wells and his Touch Inn Tigers, handing the Neil's Trailer King truckers an 8-4 surprise. Darrell Cockwill served on the Tiger's mound the complete holiday contest.

Improved hitting of Craig Rusnak sparked the Tigers. Rusnak struck for a home run, triple, and double to lead the way with three RBI's. A return engagement between the Tigers and the Kings will be played on June 4, which could decide a playoff spot for one of these teams.

Jets win final Avco Cup

Winnipeg Jets defeated the Edmonton Oilers 7-3 Sunday night in the Manitoba capital to take their best of seven series in six games.

The win for the Jets gives them the Avco Cup for the second time in a row and third in the seven year history of the World Hockey Association.

Houston Aeros are the only other team to have won the Avco Cup twice with wins in '74 and '75 while the Quebec Nordiques won it in '77 and New England Whalers the first year 1973.

This was the final year of the often troubled World Hockey Association as Nordiques, Whalers, Jets and the Oilers will be playing in the National Hockey League this fall.

Jets had no trouble with the Oilers except for game five when they were bombed 10-2 on the strength of Ron Chipperfield's five goal performance, which set a W.H.A. record for the most goals in one playoff game.

Winnipeg took a 5-0 lead in the game Sunday before the Oilers were able to solve the mystery of goaltender Gary Smith. Chipperfield scored his ninth of the playoffs.

Bill "Cowboy" Flett and Dave Semenko scored the other Oiler goals with Semenko's being recorded in the record books as the last goal to be scored in the W.H.A.

Ex-Oiler Barry Long and Willy Lindstrom paced the Jets with two goals each, while Paul MacKinnon, Lyle Moffatt and Kent Nilsson added singles.

"Rookie of the Year" Wayne Gretzky was the top scorer in the playoffs with 20 goals coming on an equal number of goals and assists. Gretzky's 10 goals tied him with Lindstrom for the most goals while Nilsson had the most assists with 11.

Chipperfield and Blair MacDonald were second and third respectively in scoring with Chipper at 19 points and B.J. at 18.

Even though the Oilers are the only one of the four W.H.A. teams joining the National Hockey League next season to have never won a Avco Cup, they had an excellent season as they finished in first place with 48 wins, 30 losses and two ties in 80 games.

Mr. Peter Pocklington is to be congratulated for his determination and MONEY in securing an N.H.L. franchise as well as lining up some excellent front office personnel to run the operation.

Larry Gordon, vice president and general manager, Doug Wenschlag, director of marketing and John Short who was in charge of public relations all did a super job and will be well respected in their first season come this fall in the N.H.L.

Last but not least was Glen Sather who did a great job despite all of the injury problems that plagued the team throughout the season.

Ten goals one night, not enough the next

This is one of Ron Chipperfield's five goals he scored in the Edmonton Oilers' 10-2 win over the Winnipeg Jets Friday in game five of the Avco Cup finals. The Jets won game six 7-3 and the Cup four games to two on Sunday in Winnipeg.

Oilers dominate all-star selections

Even though the Edmonton Oilers didn't come through to win the last ever Avco Cup, they did manage to have several members selected to the first and second all-star teams.

Goalie Dave Dryden was picked as the World Hockey Association's most valuable player, and the first all-star teams goaltender. Wayne Gretzky was top choice for "Rookie of the Year," and made the second team as centreman.

Also making the first team were defencemen Rick Ley of the New England Whalers and Rob Ramage of the Birmingham Bulls. The Whalers Mark Howe, the Quebec Nordiques Real Cloutier and the Cincinnati Stingers' Robbie Ftorek made up the forward line.

On the second all-star team, Dave Langevin and Paul Shmyr of the Oilers filled out the defensive spots, while B. J. MacDonald was selected to the right wing position. Quebec goalie Richard Brodeur and Winnipeg left winger Morris Lukowich rounded out the team.

Kent Nilsson of Winnipeg was chosen as the most gentlemanly player, while the coach of the year honor was taken by the Bulls' John Brophy.

The selections were made by the media people covering the W.H.A.

S.A.M.B.A.

Continued From Page B 16 toward tonight's game all year, he told us, and has heads of scouting reports to prove it. Game time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Coaches Art(s) Balog and Rechlo of the Cardinals had another worry - a make up meeting with arch-rival St.

Albert Saints contested last evening at Mission Park. Barrhead was also due in at Westlock for a single encounter Tuesday night.

Norwest's Midgets were active Sunday as Spruce Grove added to their winning streak, rocking Rochester for a double-win on the Stony Plain diamond 7-3 and 6-1.

Onoway's Bears were their own worst enemy committing numerous miscues in losing to the Cardinals 25-0. Doug Rechlo and Matt Wheatley teamed up for the win. The opening game of the afternoon, also claimed by the Cards, saw Dave Joliff and Larry Schuchard on the winner's mound for a 11-4 margin. Onoway's promising trio of pitchers, Rodney Koch, Jeff Schneider and Michael Harper lacked support in the infield for Coach Frank Harper's eager-but, as yet, winless Bears, appearing for the first time in their new neat looking blue uniforms.

Wheatley and Brent Well-er with four RBI's, along with timely hitting by Joliff, Schuchard, and Brent Biollo highlighted the heavy striking of the day on behalf of the Cardinals.

It was a disappointing day for the Linaria Aces, forced to take a duet of defaults from Faweett as they waited in vain for the Eagles arrival. Another game under review, was Barrhead's non-appearance also at Linaria scheduled for last Tuesday. Division head, Ben Tooth is conducting an inquiry.

As might be expected, all games of Wednesday, May 16, were washed away. Already one of these were made up when Rochester tamed Westlock's Tigers 10-5 Thursday.

Besides the "big" game at Stony Plain tonight (with the weatherman's blessing) - at 7 p.m. - Onoway will be at home to Linaria. Rochester heads for Faweett and Barrhead makes its first appearance of the season in St. Albert's Mission Park against the hometown Saints.

Namoo hockey wind-up

The Namoo Sailcats senior hockey club held their wind-up banquet recently with a social evening at the Community Hall.

Leslie Crozier received the Most Valuable Player award, which is a selection made by the team players. Mr. Dan Patter presented the Bob Jeffery Memorial trophy to Leslie and a small trophy to keep, which is donated by Don and Laura Patter each year.

Manager Byron Schultz presented gifts to the team's two goalies, Darryl McBurney and Larry Marron, along with thanks from the players for the year's efforts.

The team's coach, Tom Crozier, and trainer Lloyd Sichkaryk were also present for the evening.

CKST Angels

Here are two more of the CKST Angels, a group of high school girls assisting CKST Radio in promotional activities.

Kathy is a 16 year old Paul Kane student, currently in grade 11. The brown eyed brunette is the assistant co-ordinator for "Enterprise," and has done some interview work on Capital Cable TV in St. Albert. Kathy is very involved in the arts, and enjoys academic subjects. Writing is one of Kathy's favorite pastimes.

HEATHER MALEK

Heather is an 18 year old, grade 12 Paul Kane student, and is planning to attend the Canadian School of Cosmology in the fall. Heather enjoys gourmet cooking, sewing, singing and playing the guitar. In the winter, she likes to cross country ski and skate. In the summer, swimming takes up some of her free time.

S.A.M.B.A.

Next Sunday, May 27 looks like this:

Saints at Rochester
Fawcett at Spruce Grove
Cardinals at Barrhead
Westlock at Linaria

ENDING THE SEASON RIGHT

Namoo Sailcat Leslie Crozier displays the trophies awarded to him at the recent wind-up banquet the team held. Mr. Dan Patter presented Leslie with the Bob Jeffery Memorial Award for being selected the Most Valuable Player for the past season. Leslie will have his name inscribed on the big trophy, while he'll get to keep the small one.

They're all doubleheaders, commencing at 1:30 p.m.

DUG OUT DIGGINGS

If you missed Tuesday's meeting between the two top unbeaten Nu-West Homers and Pennington Blasters in Bantam Division warfare - they tangle again tomorrow night on diamond #27 near Vital Grandin School.

Gail Cockwill sez to thank all the SAMBA mums who made the SAMBA auxiliary bake sale such a terrific success a couple of weeks ago - thank you again ladies.

If you listen to CKST during noon hour - Monday and Friday at 12:45 - we try to bring current information to followers of SAMBA baseball. We still need help from coaches, if possible.

Chuck Jones, Mosquito division overseer sez at last count there are 15 gals playing teams in his division - three on the Buxton Beavers alone. Mosquito country beckons all girl watchers and we hear they're all doing well, too.

It's okay for Kerry Myers to play (during Norwest Midget League games) for Spruce Grove despite his desertion of St. Francis of Warburg team. For A.B.A. playdowns - it's another big question mark.

Diamonds are still SAMBA's best friend as long as the weather keeps up - even if they do cost 65 cents a game - right Lorne? (or is it 49 cents?)

Championship wild horse racing and wild cow milking

Team Rodeo is a new concept to players in the sport's major events, but to the men who compete in Wild Horse racing and Wild Cow Milking, teamwork has always been their way of playing the game.

At the 1979 Calgary Stampede, International teams in both events are being invited to enter the competition that will determine the World's Championship Team. A maximum of 16 three-member teams will be accepted in the 1979 World Championship Wild Horse race with preference given to past Calgary Stampede champions. Defending Wild Horse Race Champion, Don Copithorne will compete against top-notch teams from Canada, the United States and Australia for a chunk of the $10,500 prize money.

Entries in the World Championship Wild Cow Milking competition are limited to 25 two-member teams competing for $5,000 prize money. Again, past Stampede Champions will be given preference and as in the Wild Horse Race, prize money will be split to fourth place.

While Rodeo is increasingly the sport of polished professionals Wild Horse Racing and Wild Cow Milking remain events where dogged determination and frontier spirit can take a man and his team to the pay window.

On July 15, Stampede visitors will see the best of those contenders collect the cash and the trophy that say they are World Champions.

Further information and application forms are available from the Rodeo Manager, Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, Box 1060, Calgary, Alberta T2P 2K8.

TENNIS COURT RESERVATIONS

A tennis court reservation system has been set up. Anyone wishing to reserve a court on open time must first pick up a tennis tag from the Community Services Department. A letter explaining the reservation system will be given to each tag holder along with a schedule of open court times. The Community Services offices are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and are located in the Mission Ridge Shopping Centre, 2nd floor.

RECREATIONAL HOCKEY

If interested in playing recreational hockey, ice time has been set aside for this purpose in both arenas and requests are being accepted until the end of May.

Priority will be given to recreational groups of 25 playing within their own circle and consisting of 100 percent St. Albert residents. Second priority will be given to competitive hockey groups playing only St. Albert resident teams. Third priority will be given to the competitive hockey groups playing surrounding district teams.

After the above requests have been taken care of, non-local groups will be considered on a first come - first served basis.

The fee for ice time for the 1979-80 season will be $37 per hour for local residents. Applications are to be made directly to the Community Services Department.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Everyone is welcome to the Senior Citizen Centre at around 1 p.m. on Thursday, May 24 when Mrs. Ethel Cuts, who recently visited the Holy Land, will be showing slides of her trip.

This slide presentation will follow the lunch which is provided every Thursday for a limited number as part of the Meals on Wheels program. Jenny Allen (458-0472) or Olga Buma (459-8309) would be glad to hear of anyone who would benefit from an occasional weekly meal at the Centre.

A short program usually follows the lunch to which all seniors are invited. This can consist of a talk, sometimes a concert and at times Ethel Cuts will demonstrate some easy-to-do exercises.

Every Tuesday afternoon, cards or bingo are played at the Centre at 1:30 p.m. Cards will be played on May 29 with bingo the following Tuesday, June 5.

On Friday, May 25, the regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizen Club will be held at the Centre starting at 1:30 1:30 p.m.

Mr. Ken Graham will be the guest speaker. He will be talking about the Summer Games, which will be held in St. Albert in August this year.

The next-to-new shop will be open again on Saturday, May 26 from 1 - 3 p.m. in the Senior Citizen Centre (north of the curling rink).

It's possible to find anything under the sun there, from baby clothes to table lamps - and all at bargain prices.

Changing to summer tires?

Radial snow tire owners should mark their tires "left" or "right" prior to removal for storage this spring in order to maintain the same direction of forward rotation when the tires are remounted next winter.

"Changing the normal direction of rotation on a radial tire after it has been 'broken in' by switching the tire and wheel from one side of the car to the other, can cause ride problems or result in less than optimum service," says Bill Noll, manager, product service for B.F. Goodrich Canada Limited.

Marking the tires with a piece of chalk or crayon prior to storage takes only a few minutes, yet insures proper remounting next season, Noll adds.

Conventional bias and bias-belted snow tires need not be marked, since they are normally rotated from one side of the car to the other. Noll points out, however, studded bias and bias-belted snow tires should not be rotated from side to side, to prevent stud loosening from driving torque.

Noll advises motorists to store mounted snow tires uninflated in sealed plastic bags to reduce the weathering effect of exposure to the atmosphere and the stress of internal air pressure.

Spring safety tips

With the arrival of spring we begin to look at our gardens, and start clean up operations, preparatory to starting our real gardening efforts.

The Home Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council recommends that this is a good time to take stock of any leftover weed killers and pesticides which may have been stored over the winter. Children will be playing outdoors and running in and out of garages and storage sheds. Be sure that all potential poisons are placed on high shelves, out of their reach to prevent possible damage to eyes and face. Better still, store poisons in locked cupboards. Spray guns should always be rinsed after use to avoid leaving small amounts of pesticides which children might spray on each other. The results could be tragic. Never store leftovers in soft drink bottles -- it's an invitation to drink.

Do not leave seeds around where toddlers can get at them. In this age group everything goes into the mouth, and some seeds are poisonous -- for example sweet peas.

Be sure that potentially dangerous tools are stored out of reach of children -- this includes pruning shears, hedge trimmers, all electrical tools. Check ladders before using them to be sure they have not been damaged and will safely bear your weight. Remember that rakes lying on the ground, with teeth up are potential hazards to feet, face and head.

USC aids Bangladesh

USC Executive Director, Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, has just completed her eighth annual visit to Bangladesh to inspect current USC projects.

USC aid to Bangladesh includes a milk feeding program, clothing distribution, free medical aid and a children's daycare centre; as well as development programs in vocational skills for adults, a women's cooperative and voluntary family planning scheme. USC headquarters is located at 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

THE INVISIBLE HOMEOWNER

Most homeowners are really tied up in their homes. They're proud of the improvements they've made. They're so involved that they become somewhat defensive if anyone criticizes the house.

Prospective buyers are looking for a home, period. They are not interested in the fact that anyone lived there before. Nothing personal. The house matters, and that's all.

In fact, the owner often gets in the way of communication-between the prospect couple, or between the prospects and the real estate agent who brought them. They won't criticize for fear of hurting the owners' feelings; they won't show enthusiasm for fear of hurting their bargaining position.

It's most effective if prospects can be shown through a house when the owner is not there at all. They are free to comment, ask questions, speak their minds.

You can help insure a good sale by letting us show your house in the most favorable circumstances.
